

Narciso Gutierrez serves as Engineer, Property Management for Midway. He is responsible for maintaining all building components and systems for Midway's projects and for responding to various tenants' service requests.

Prior to joining Midway, Narciso served as Building Engineer for Stanford Financial where he maintained the aesthetics and functionality of the office building and coordinated with various contractors during tenant build outs. He has 15 years of experience as a Building Engineer.

Narciso received his engineer certificate on maintenance basics skills from Houston Community College and is also trained with American Trainco.