

EDUCATION • ON THE RISE • GLOBALLY

To understand the picture of global higher education and preparing the next generation of leaders, let's start by looking at how growth is occurring globally.¹

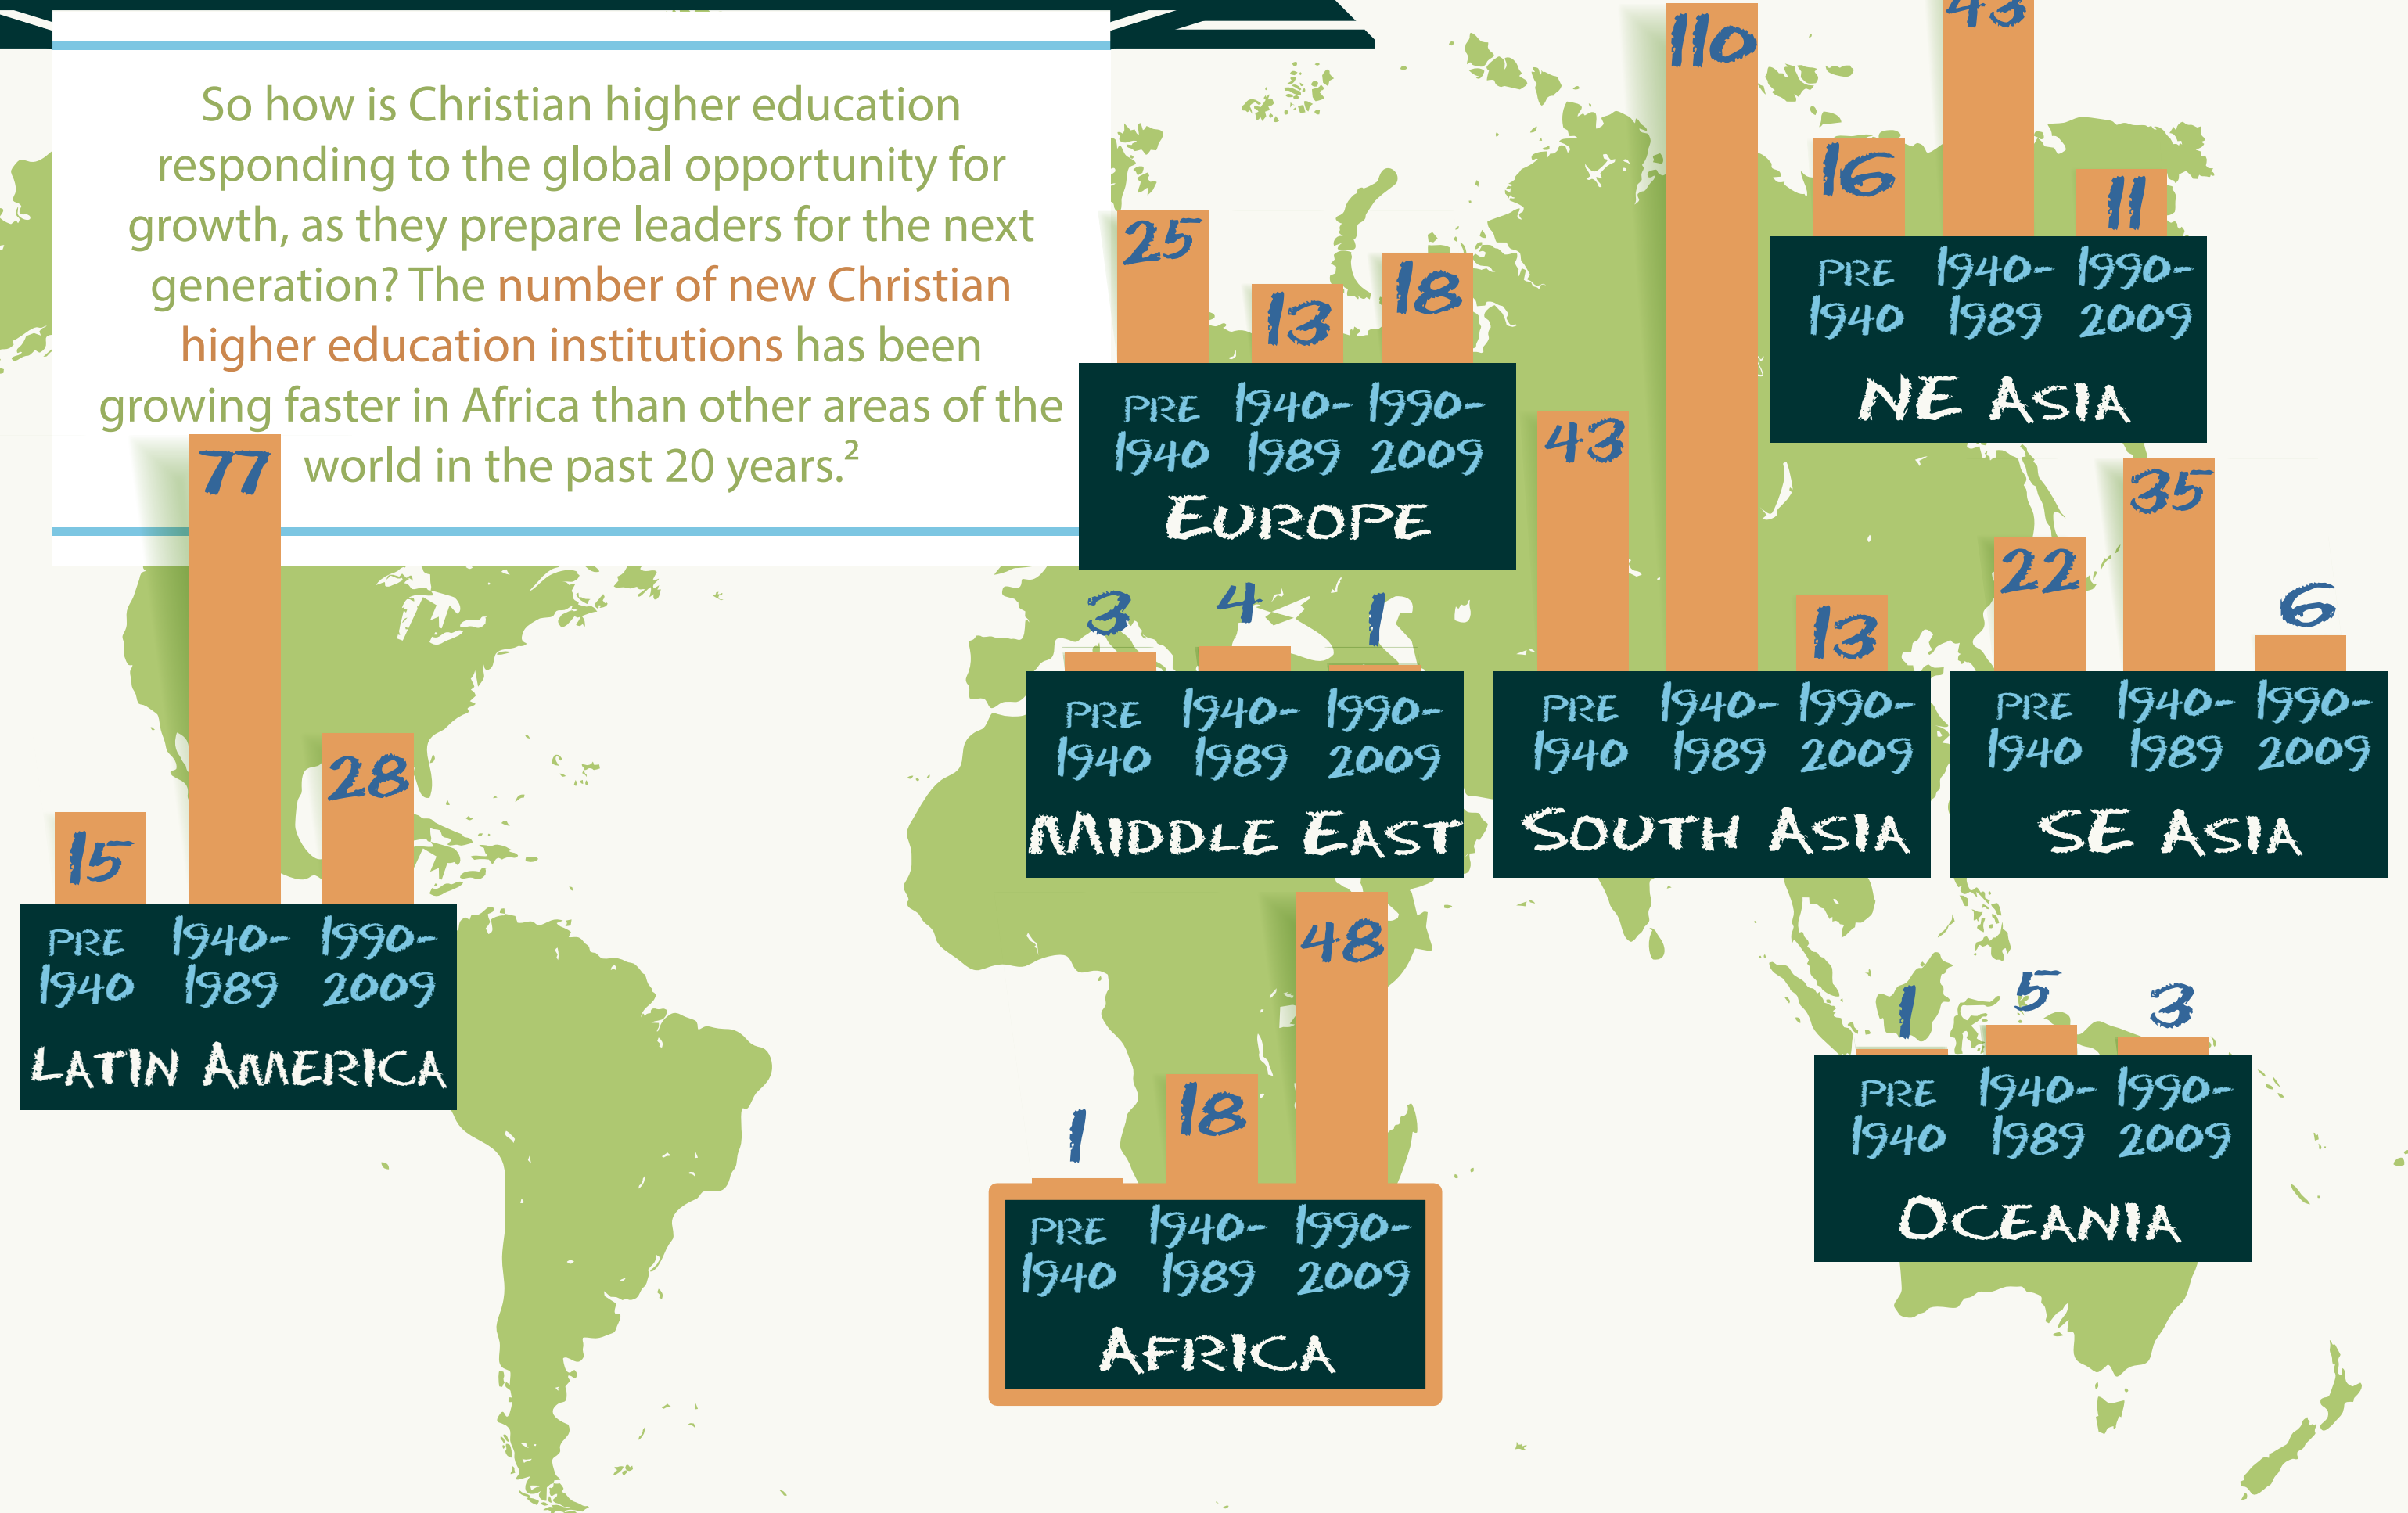

AFRICA HAS THE MOST TO GAIN

Now let's look at educational achievement by region: Sub-Saharan Africa lags behind the rest of the world in educational attainment, especially in percentage of college completion.¹

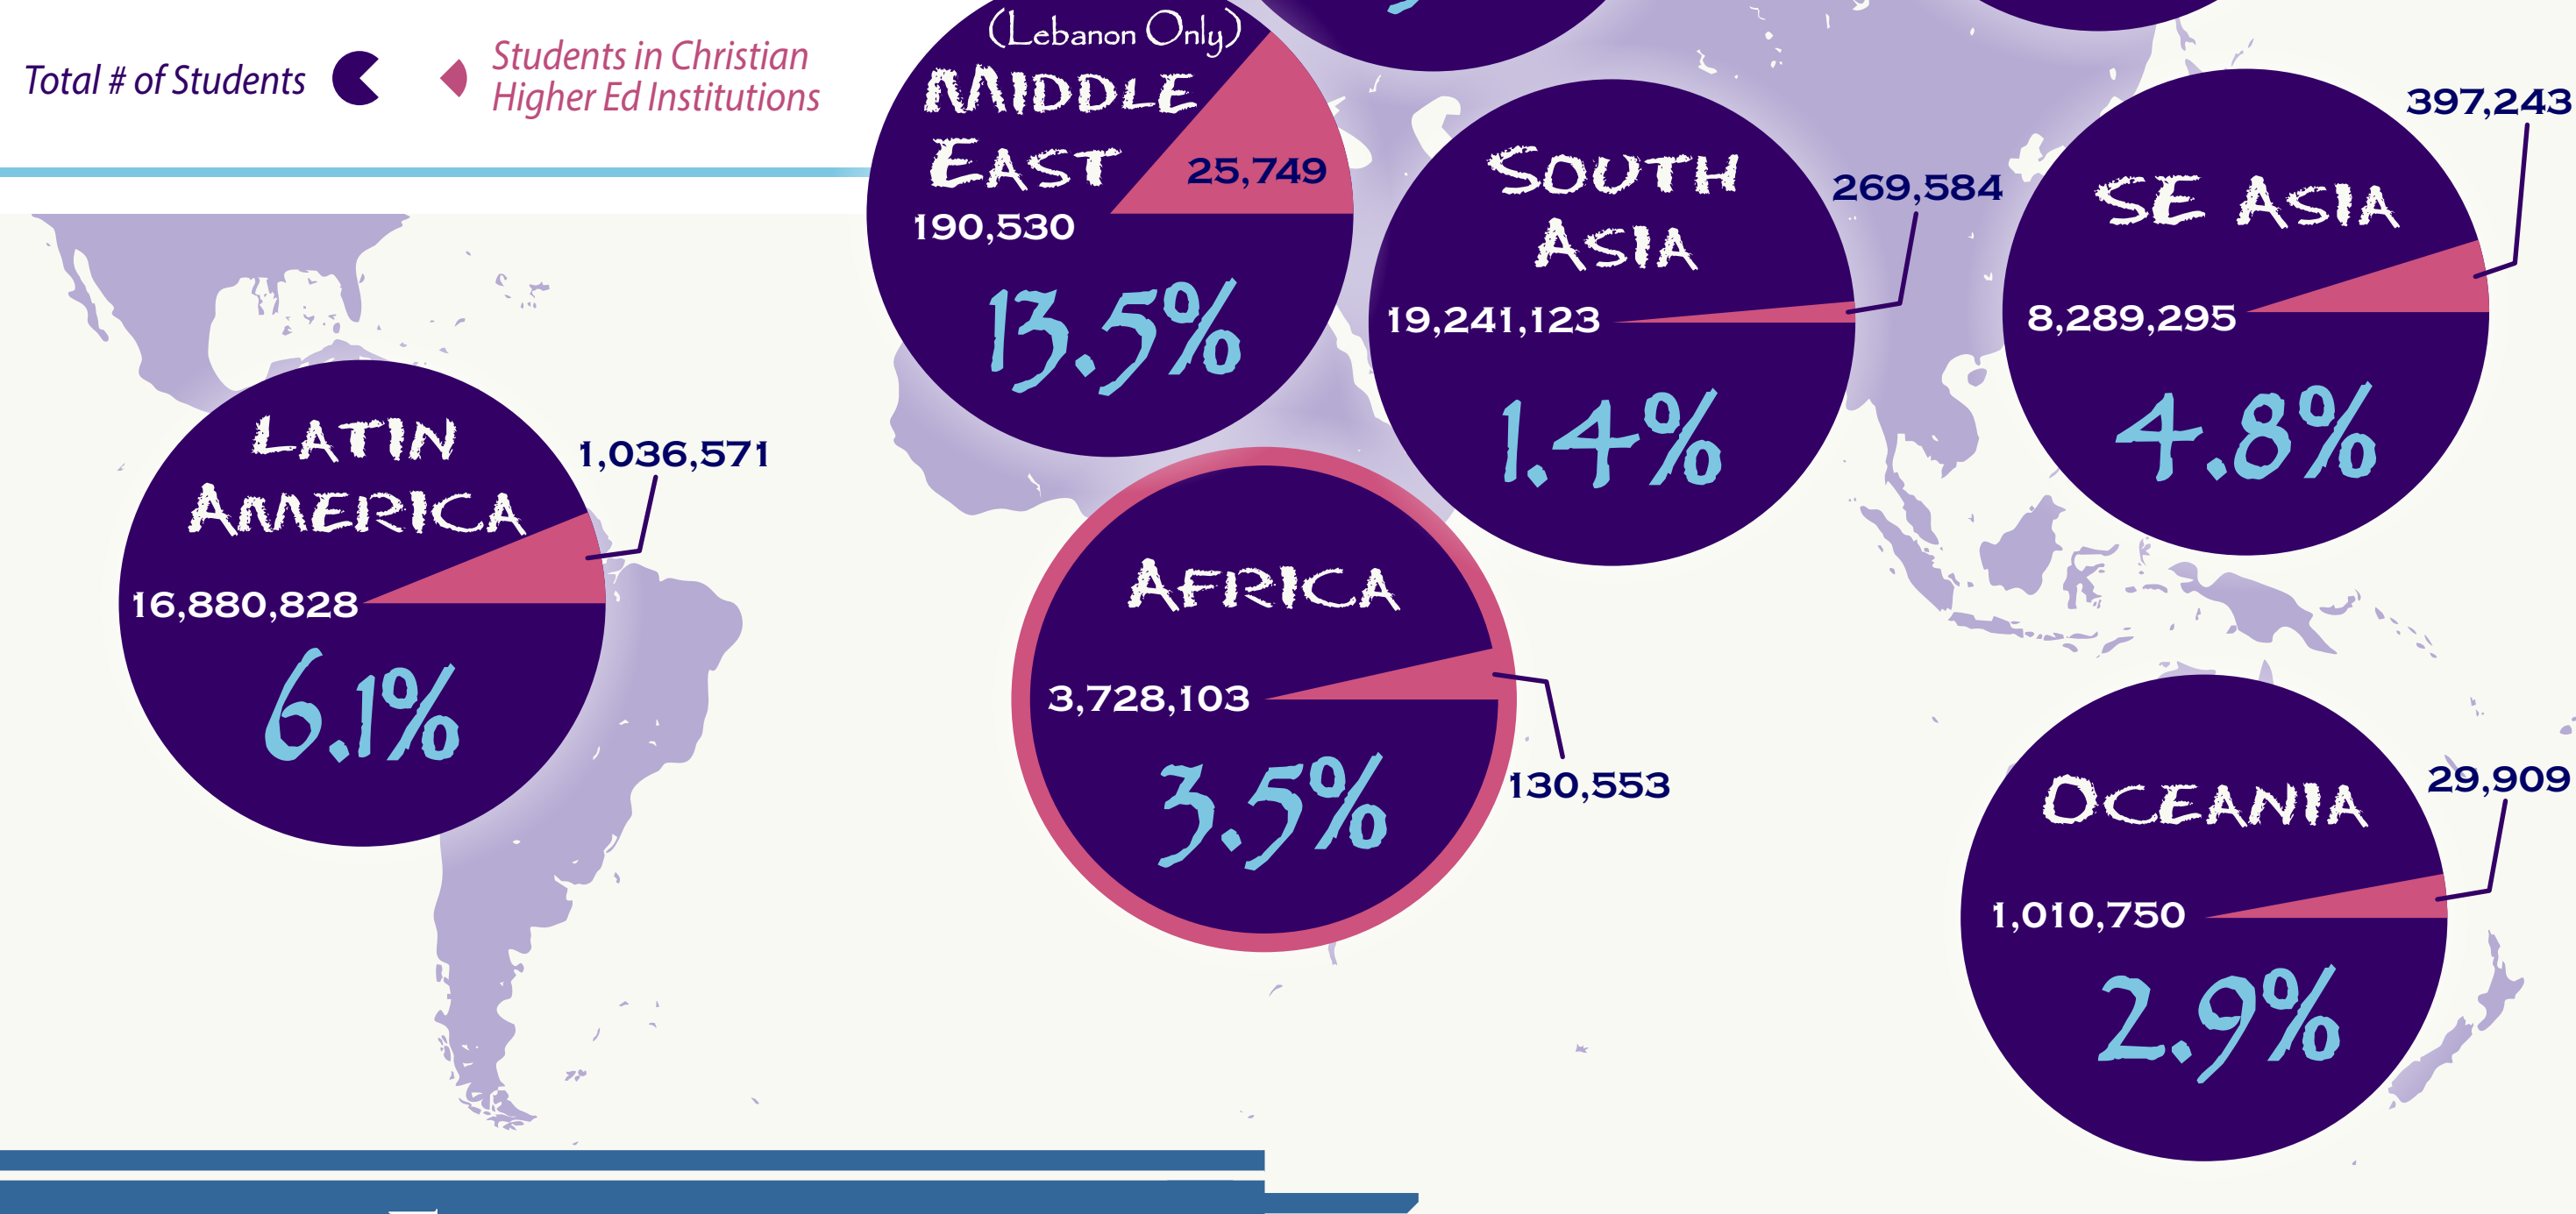

THE RESPONSE OF CHRISTIAN HIGHER EDUCATION

So how is Christian higher education responding to the global opportunity for growth, as they prepare leaders for the next generation? The number of new Christian higher education institutions has been growing faster in Africa than other areas of the world in the past 20 years.²

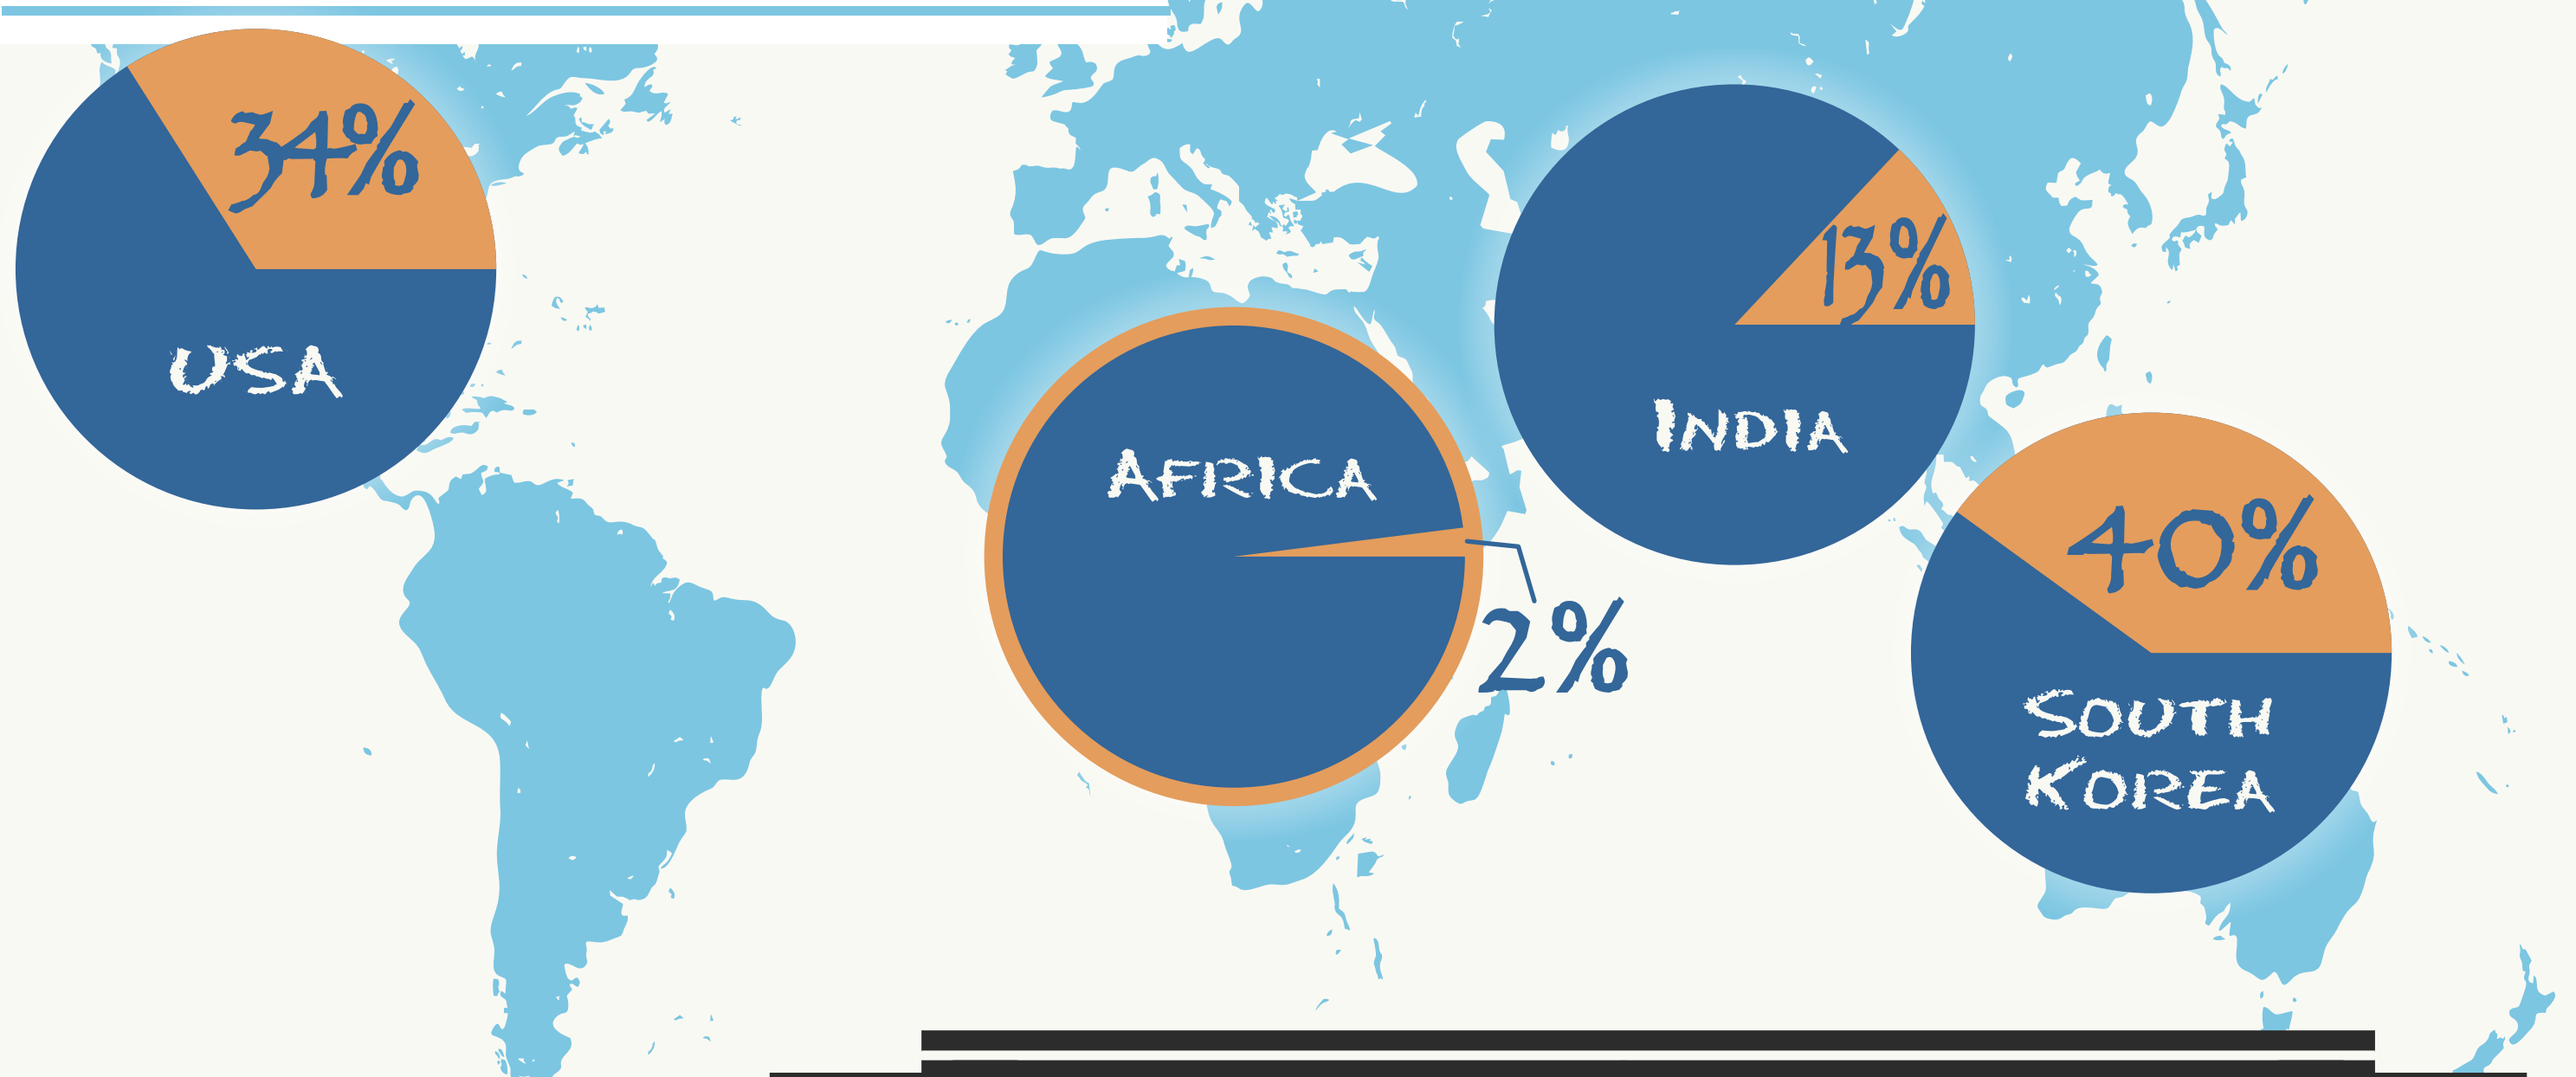

AFRICA: THERE IS TREMENDOUS ROOM FOR GROWTH

Even with the recent growth of Christian higher education institutions in Africa, the total number of students in Christian colleges is small. Some countries in Africa have high proportions of Christian college students - Kenya, Uganda, D.R. Congo and Angola have 10-15% of students in Christian institutions.³

FUTURE GROWTH

There continues to be great opportunity for the growth of Christian higher education in Africa as currently only 2% of the African university enrollment age cohort is enrolled in higher education.³

• PRAY •

Pray for the future of Christian Higher Education in Africa as they prepare the next generation of Christian leaders.

FUNDING
 Financing growth in capacity.

FACULTY
 Finding enough adequately prepared faculty members.

FOCUS
 Pray that the many new Christian colleges in Africa will not fizzle out but will thrive to help their nations.
