Supply List: A complete supply list is at the end of this tutorial.

Parts & Pieces:

- Cut a top fold card base 4 1/4" x 11" and score at 5 1/2". I used Balmy Blue cardstock.
- Cut card layers as follows:

- - The Basic White card layer is 3 1/8" x 4 5/8".
- - The Balmy Blue patterned paper layer is 3" x 4 1/2".
- - Each of the off-set patterned paper layers is cut 2 1/2" x 3 3/4".
- - Cut two cardstock strips for the right side of the Focal Point layer. They measure 1/2" x 4 1/2" and 1/2" x 4 1/4" respectively.
- - The inside writing layer is 4" x 5 1/4".
- - I stacked two patterned paper strips for the bottom of the inside writing layer. They measure 1/4" x 3 1/2" and 1/4" x 3 1/4".
- - The flower embellishment on the sentiment tag is punched directly from the Regency Park Designer Series Paper using the Petal Park Builder Punch.

Assemble the card:

- Adhere the card layers as shown, starting with the Basic White bottom layer.
- When you're adding the off-set layers, make sure you have even amounts of space on all sides of the layers. See the photo above.
- Notice how the top left and bottom right corners of the Mango Melody patterned paper layer have about equal space. They form what I would call an elongated triangle. (I'm sure there's a mathematical term for this Mango Melody triangle).
- If there is equal space on the corners, you know your layers are centered.
- Attach the 1/2" strips to the back of the right side of the finished layer focal point layer.
- The tag sentiment is die cut from the Something Fancy Dies.
- I stamped the sentiments from the Something Fancy stamp set with Night of Navy ink.
- The flower embellishment on the tag is punched directly from the Regency Park DSP.
- I added a little sparkle with a few Iridescent Pastel Gems.
