PRODUCTS:

Verizon's Real Time Response System Service ("RTRS Service") is a hosted solution built for city police departments. It is a single system that provides:

- Sensor/Data fusion to identify threats and relevant information.
- Automated decision support: integrate and analyze disparate data to help identify relevant information quickly, kicking off customer-defined workflows when customer definable criteria are met (for example, send an alert when a license plate number from a "hot list" is detected).
- Increased communication with first responders: provide field personnel with up to date, relevant information.

The core offering includes Genetec Citigraf software application with integration to the following city services:

- Video security cameras (existing Genetec customers).
- Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) - 911 call data.
- Records Management System (RMS) - historical crime data, which could include location, date and type of crime, arrest records, mug shots and other personally identifiable data.
- Geographical Information Systems (GIS) - asset data, e.g., showing real-time location of police cars, fire trucks, etc.
