Thank You

SPONSORS

Thank you to the incredible sponsors of National Voter Registration Day for making the holiday possible and supporting democracy in America!

CELEBRATED FROM THE WHITE HOUSE TO THE STATE HOUSE

“The National Association of Secretaries of State is a proud partner of National Voter Registration Day. As our states’ chief democracy officers, secretaries of state do some of our most vital work celebrating National Voter Registration Month in September, and the excitement really peaks on National Voter Registration Day. On the holiday this year, we worked with the White House, Congress, governors and other elected officials around the country to make sure every eligible voter knew about state voter registration tools and resources. When Facebook became excited about the holiday, we worked with them to promote and encourage the site’s amazingly successful voter registration drive. National Voter Registration Day makes a huge impact in American democracy, and we are delighted to be part of it.”

–NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF SECRETARIES OF STATE

Official White House Proclamation

Not only was National Voter Registration Day a coast-to-coast success in 2016, it also had the Presidential seal of approval. The White House issued an official proclamation designating September 27, 2016 as National Voter Registration Day. One of our favorite passages: “Each year on National Voter Registration Day, we reaffirm the strong sense of civic pride among our people and encourage friends, family members, and neighbors to get involved in civic life by registering to vote.”

Presidential Proclamation -- National Voter Registration Day, 2016

NATIONAL VOTER REGISTRATION DAY, 2016

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
A PROCLAMATION

One of the most fundamental and sacred rights of any democracy is the right to vote; in order for our government to function effectively and respond to the needs of our people, all citizens can and must play a role in shaping it. Each year on National Voter Registration Day, we reaffirm the strong sense of civic pride among our people and encourage friends, family members, and neighbors to get involved in civic life by registering to vote.

Democracy is not a spectator sport. If we are serious about improving our country and ensuring our government reflects our values, we cannot afford to sit out on Election Day. Unfortunately, among those who are eligible to vote, too many choose not to -- far too many people disenfranchise themselves by not getting involved. When we do not take full advantage of the right to vote, we not only give away our voice; our power; our ability to shape the future of the country we love -- we also do a disservice to the generations of Americans before us who risked everything, including their lives, to protect this fundamental aspect of our Republic.

Our brand of democracy is hard, and it requires our citizens to be able to fully participate in a smooth and effective way. Through a bipartisan, independent commission dedicated to improving the voting process, we are working to ensure our democracy and our elections function the way they are supposed to. Whether through strengthening mechanisms that allow more people to vote -- such as online registration -- or going door-to-door to register voters in our communities, we must make registering to vote easier. By protecting and expanding this right, we can ensure this grand experiment in self-government works for more Americans. For more information on how to register to vote, visit www.VOTE.USA.gov.

It is easy to feel frustrated when the pace of change is slow -- and to lose hope in the political process as a result. But we cannot give in to that cynicism. Heroic things happen when people get involved. Our government is only as strong as what we put into it, and it is only reflective of the will of our citizenry when we exercise our right to vote. Today, as we once again celebrate National Voter Registration Day, let us carry forward the tradition of promoting voter registration and civic engagement, recommit to exercising one of the most precious of our democratic rights, and remember that the task of perfecting our Union belongs to us all.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, BARACK OBAMA, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the laws of the United States, do hereby proclaim September 27, 2016, as National Voter Registration Day. I call upon all Americans to observe this day by ensuring they are registered to vote.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this twenty-sixth day of September, in the year of our Lord two thousand sixteen, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and forty-first.

BARACK OBAMA

DEEP PARTNERSHIPS WITH ELECTION OFFICES

X = No Online Voter Registration

American democracy would not be possible without the steady nonpartisan leadership of election administrators across the country. National Voter Registration Day cherishes our partnerships with the women and men who process voter registrations, assist voters, and ensure that every ballot is counted. Thanks in large part to the leadership of these administrators, National Voter Registration Day 2016 saw an explosion of registrations on state online voter registration tools.

ENGAGING SOME OF AMERICA'S MOST TRUSTED BRANDS

To reach truly exceptional impact, National Voter Registration Day relies on the support and partnership of America's largest businesses and brands. A tremendous portion of America's eligible voters have no interaction with traditional political organizations, so these corporate partners are the only way to reach some of our country's most underserved citizens. In 2016, National Voter Registration Day's business partners contributed some impressive results.

THANK YOU

In an election year that was too often dominated by anger and vitriol, National Voter Registration Day was an oasis of positivity and civic spirit. It exceeded the aspirations of the holiday’s founders and offered hope to every American who just wants our democracy to work. That success was made possible by the efforts, commitment, and cooperation of thousands of people and organizations. To everyone who made this holiday a success – and to all who work to support our democracy year-round – thank you from the bottom of our hearts. You are what’s great about America.

Sign up to Partner in 2017

America celebrates National Voter Registration Day every year. We always need new partners. Go to NationalVoterRegistrationDay.org to sign up to partner in 2017.
