

Seeking Web Development Intensive Instructor

Location: Salt Lake City, UT

The New York Code + Design Academy has been teaching web development to professionals in New York City since 2012 and in Amsterdam since 2015. We have a successful intensive program to retrain professionals from all industries to help them gain the skills they'll need to become junior web developers, QA professionals, or product managers. Past students have utilized their skills in a number of exciting ways, including: founding their own startups, joining established organizations as junior developers or simply leveraging their new skills in their current career.

Web Development Intensive

A 12-week long program meeting Monday-Friday, 10:00AM - 6:00PM with a 1- hour break each day for lunch. Candidates should be well versed in HTML, CSS, JavaScript/JQuery, Ruby/Sinatra/Rails and at least have a basic understanding of the Terminal, Git, and GitHub.

Interested?

E-mail us at jobs@nycda.com, with a bit about yourself, your web development background, why you'd like to teach and a link to your GitHub or samples of past work.

Qualified candidates must have one year experience as a developer and a degree in the field OR two years experience as a developer.

Teaching experience is a plus but not a strict requirement. Pay is competitive and commensurate with experience level.
