Objective

To achieve an internship-level position that is pertinent to my field of study that builds upon by standing collegiate knowledge through experiences and tasks. I currently attend Loyola Marymount majoring in Biology. Most of my life consisted of advanced academics, church and sports; I learned early that they key to success is being a determined leader in what you do which is revealed through attitude, work ethic and behavior. Punctuality and commitment to excellence is a key focus in any given work environment commitment. I learned early in life, particularly with my community service, that service accountability requires me go beyond the proverbial "call of duty" consistently. These particular lessons gave me a new sense of commitment and a desire to expect more of myself.

Education

Carden Hall Academy, Newport Beach, California K-8 (2001-2008)

Newport Harbor High School, Newport Beach, California (2009-2013)

International Baccalaureate Degree, Multiple Honor Roll, Varsity Athlete, State of California Bilingual Award GPA 3.5

Loyola Marymount University, Los Angeles (2013-present)

Student in the Seaver College of Science and Engineering GPA 2.9

Further Academic Achievement

I was selected through an interview and application process to go to the RYLA (Rotary Youth Leadership Award) leadership camp April 2012, I learned to be a leader through my actions and words, implying further that the things I do carry weight. Now I enact these insights to lead my life with purpose.

Boys State 2012, I was nominated by my teachers to interview for the delegate position (to Sacramento), after te the interview process, I was selected as a delegate. Boy's State is funded by the American Legion. It is a mock government scenario, in which 1000 high school male students all over the state convene to set up and run a state government. We hold and run for office, facilitated through real political procedures.
