S. W. 13. Nov. 28, 1860

My dear Child,

You are as wise as usual about the Church.

1. Convent plans are never endless.

2. They are always expensive.

4. The Church of the more I trust employ for architects of black blood, but by remedy, before any one. He does all our work.
If they employ a constable, a clerk of the works, they will have more than their compensation, so the work will be well done.

And I contend as you say when you are disputing in theology.

Now Mr. Chalmers will believe on Sunday, so if you will explain what Mr. Hoppin's worker about it, I will speak with him. I have written two Chalmers, finished a third and built a fourth, so that I have
