

Baywater.

Feb 27. 1865.

Dear Sir,

You will I hope easily understand that the last days have been over full of duties, & that my strength & health has been inevitable.

Before I received your note I had already given the MS of the German Litho Papers. It is

Charles Kent Esq
Office of the Sun
112 - Strand

The only copy.

An edition in the form of a Pamphlet: now almost ready or copy shall be sent to you of which you may make any use you will.

Believe me, Dear Sir

Yours faithfully

H. E. Manning.

(Sermon on the death of Cardinal Wiseman.)

M A N N I N G . HENRY EDWARD, (1808-1892: Cardinal-priest; author of "The Grounds of Faith" 1852; "The Temporal Mission of the Holy Ghost" 1868; "Petri Privilegium" 1871; "National Education" 1872; "The Eternal Priesthood" 1883,&c.)

AUTOGRAPH LETTER SIGNED, 2pp.8vo., "Bayswater. Feb.27.1865", with addressed envelope, to Charles KENT (1823-1902: editor of the "Sun" newspaper, and miscellaneous writer.)

".....the last few days have been full of duties....my slowness to write has been inevitable. Before I received your note I had already given the Ms. of the Sermon to the Catholic Papers. It is the only copy. An edition in the form of a Pamphlet is now almost ready & a copy shall be sent to you of which you may make any use you will."

(Upon the death of Cardinal Wiseman, Manning preached his funeral sermon at St.Mary's Moorfields, on 23rd.February 1865.)
