The date of the organization of this church is not known, because of the fact that none of the old records are available or were not kept up to date. The church is located in the Birdie Community, in Spalding County. We cannot find any record of the charter members and charter officials. Also it cannot be found out whether there has ever been any other churches sponsored by this church, and we believe that it was started on its own initiative.

If any men have gone into the Christian Ministry or if any missionaries or deaconesses have gone into Christian Service from this church no record can be found. The present church building is the second building the congregation has worshipped in during the hundred years history of the church. The present building stands just across the road from where the old original building stood. The original lot and a part of the present lot was given to the church by a Mr. Elder, but his given name is not known. The present lot contains about 3 acres and one acre was given by the Spalding County Board of Education. This acre lot was some land next to the church where the old Birdie School House stood. The cost of the old original or the present building cannot be found for the old record have been destroyed. The Church owns a parsonage jointly with the other churches of the Inman-Brooks Charge, and its cost is not known. The deed does contain the Trust Clause.

There are no records of any great revivals, but we feel that there has been some held at this church for we hear many of the older members talk about the great meeting held here in the past. We have no records to show when the first Sunday School or the first Woman's Society of Christian Service was organized.

There are no records of the charter members of the Sunday School, neither is there a record of how much the Sunday School raised for all causes the first year. The Church School enrollment at the present is 30, and it raised about $50.00 for all causes last year.

No record of the charter members of the W. S. C. S. or its first president can be found. The present membership of the society is 11, and it raised $15.00 for all causes last year.

Many outstanding men and women have gone out into the business world from this church, and many of them have made good Christian leaders. The church raised about $600.00, for all causes last year, but record of the contributions for the first year of the church's history is not known. Neither is there a record of the church's contribution to benevolences and ministerial support for the first year, but the church raised $500.00 for these causes last year.

The present membership of this church is 77 including both active and inactive. This material came from some of the older members and a few records that have been kept by the church.

David Elder is the church historian
Rt. A. Griffin, Georgia

Inman-Brooks, Charge
Griffin District
North Georgia Conference