American Academy of Religion

The American Academy of Religion is a society of college and university professors and others engaged in teaching and research in the field of religion. Its purpose is to stimulate scholarship, foster research and promote learning in the complex of disciplines that constitute religion as a field of inquiry.

Publications of the Academy and the convening of annual national and regional meetings implement these aims. Publications include the quarterly Journal of the American Academy of Religion, Journal of Religious Ethics, monographs in the Studies in Religion Series, and the Dissertation Series. The structure of the annual meeting of the Academy reflects the varied scholarly concerns of its members and provides for the development of both special interests and cross-disciplinary conversations in the general sessions, sections, groups and seminars. These program units, formed in response to interests of the members, change to keep pace with movement in the field of religion.

The Academy is also a professional society keeping its membership informed of developing programs, newly available materials, and opportunities for study grants and research funds. The Academy is affiliated with the Council on the Study of Religion and cooperates in the publication of its Bulletin, a professional news magazine and also in the publication of a job registry in the field of religion.

In addition to those whose interests are in the area of religion, many members whose primary professional identification is with societies serving other disciplines find membership in the Academy important in maintaining cross-disciplinary communication and in providing an overview of the field of religion.

American Schools of Oriental Research

The American Schools of Oriental Research were founded in 1900 with the sponsorship of the Society of Biblical Literature, the Archaeological Institute of America, and the American Oriental Society. To the present, representatives of these societies continue to hold membership on the ASOR Board of Trustees. The Constitution of the ASOR clearly states the purpose of the founding: "to enable properly qualified persons to prosecute Biblical, linguistic, archaeological, historical, and other kindred studies and researches under more favorable conditions than can be secured at a distance from the Holy Land." In addition, the Constitution guarantees a broad ecumenical dimension by the following provision: "The School shall be open to duly qualified applicants of all races and both sexes, and shall be kept wholly free from obligations or preferences as respects any religious denomination or literary institution."

In 1900 the first director of the ASOR, Professor Charles C. Torrey of Yale University, went to Jerusalem to open the School. In 1921 the American Schools of Oriental Research were incorporated. "Schools" was deliberately put in the plural form to make room for other in-country institutes in the future. The first to be established outside Jerusalem was the Baghdad School, which was formally opened in 1923. In 1970 the School in Jerusalem was incorporated under its new name, the W. F. Albright Institute of Archaeological Research in Jerusalem, and at the same time a new institute was established in Amman in 1970 with the title "The American Center of Oriental Research." In 1976 another Institute was opened in Tunisia under the title "The Carthage Institute." It is hoped that other institutes will be founded in key areas of the Near East as the ASOR's interests expand.

At this time some 140 universities, colleges, professional schools, and museums are affiliated with the ASOR and enjoy access to all its resources and programs. The in-country institutes serve as research centers, archaeological depots, and gathering places for personnel whose institutions belong to the Corporation of the ASOR. Most of the field activities conducted in the Near East under North American auspices are jointly sponsored by the ASOR. In addition to field activities, the ASOR is also well known for its publications program, which is in the process of being expanded to meet even more effectively the needs of its growing constituency. Also, each year the ASOR awards a limited number of fellowships and appoints certain staff members on limited tenure. Primary consideration for these awards and appointments is given to those candidates affiliated with a corporate member institution.

The Center for Scholarly Publishing and Services, which includes SCHOLARS PRESS, has been created by the American Academy of Religion and the Society of Biblical Literature to serve professional societies in the field of religious studies and cognate areas. The Center is located at the University of Montana.

SCHOLARS PRESS is the major component of the Center, and it will be by the name of SCHOLARS PRESS that the Center will be most commonly known. The initials, in fact, indicate that scholarly publishing is the heart of the Center's work: cSPs.

cSPs handles memberships and subscriptions for the American Academy of Religion, the Society of Biblical Literature, and the American Schools of Oriental Research. The Center also handles scholarly journals and books for sponsoring associations and institutions: American Academy of Religion, Society of Biblical Literature, American Schools of Oriental Research, Harvard Divinity School, Harvard Semitic Museum, Institute for Antiquity and Christianity (Claremont), American Society of Christian Ethics, Philo Institute (Chicago), Union Theological Seminary (New York), Brown University, American Society of Papyrologists, and the Research Committee on Sociolinguistics of the International Sociological Association.

Symposium: Our Bodies / Our Selves?

A 216 - 217

The identification of women, nature, and bodiliness in the Western tradition and the subordination of all three to male / spirit raise the following questions. How can we begin to think about what it means to be persons in ways which incorporate a healthy sense of our own bodiliness? How can we become embodied persons? How does a sense of embodiment affect our vision of human community?

Judith Plaskow and Valerie Saiving (Goldstein) are convening a colloquium to discuss these and related issues from a feminist perspective. Discussion will take off from working papers and Muriel Rukeyser's poem, "Despisals." Papers, which will focus on raising questions and suggesting resources, will be sent in advance to the first 15 people who apply to: Valerie Saiving, Hobart and William Smith Colleges, Geneva, New York 14456. Auditors welcome as space permits.

(Limited to first 25 who register with Phyllis Walden, 8920 Wentworth Avenue South, Apt. 4, Bloomington, MN 55420.)

A 218

Through the years women have kept journals. For many of them the journal was the only place they could express the anger, the frustration, and the hopes and dreams of their lives. This is one place where women have dared to speak freely. Thus the journal can be an ongoing way of processing the reality of women's experience, emotional, intellectual, and symbolic. Here consciousness-raising occurs in a concrete ongoing way, new relationships are explored, old ones given new life, and new directions in work and in public life are explored.

This workshop is designed as an informal journal experience, borrowing something from other women who have kept journals and from the Ira Progoff method. Hopefully it will be a place where those of us who have kept journals might share some of our experiences informally, but it will also be a place to test out and compare a few of the journal techniques we have found helpful in the learning process of our lives.

The Workshop will begin with some background material on dream research since 1952. I will discuss religious experience from a Jungian perspective and the way it is mediated in dreams. I propose to deal with the way dream symbols relate to myth, how dreams help us understand and work out salvation/individuation as human growth and development. The major part of the workshop will be actual work with dreams to discover their religious significance and their impact on daily life.

The four discussion questions will focus on Birth, Sex, Justice, and Death. ## SON OF GOD TO SUPERSTAR

Twentieth-Century Interpretations of Jesus

John H. Hayes presents a survey of acknowledged, and in many cases, acclaimed studies of Jesus. The book conveys the flavor and style of each interpreter as well as the distinct point of view. The writers reveal Jesus—the messiah, the apocalyptic visionary, the Jew, the suffering servant, the political revolutionary, the black messiah, the sexual being, the schemer—but most of all, a fascinating figure for all times. Bibliography. Cloth, $14.95; paper, $6.95

THE NEW TESTAMENT ENVIRONMENT

Eduard Lohse. An impressive survey of the history, politics, religions, economics, and culture of the Jewish and Hellenistic-Roman environment during approximately 400 B.C. through A.D. 100. Bishop Lohse includes an excellent, up-to-date explanation of Qumran and the Dead Sea Scrolls as related to the New Testament. Indexes. Bibliography. Chronological table. Cloth, $12.95; paper, $6.95

JUDAISM OUTSIDE THE HEBREW CANON

An Introduction to the Documents

Leonhard Rost, translated by David E. Green. This brief, easy-to-use introduction covers the many documents outside the realm of accepted holy scripture—the apocryphal writings, the pseudepigrapha, as well as the major Qumran documents. For each writing, there is a bibliography and a discussion of its historicity, genre, date and authorship, and its religious significance. Cloth, $16.95; paper, $5.95

JESUS IS VICTOR!

Karl Barth's Doctrine of Salvation

Donald G. Bloesch. This excellent book captures the main facets of a fascinating theologian. Many misconceptions surrounding Karl Barth's theology are cleared up, especially at the point of his key doctrine—salvation. Paper, $5.95

THE BIBLICAL BACKGROUNDS OF THE MIDDLE EAST CONFLICT

Georgia Harkness and Charles F. Kraft. The Arab-Israeli dispute is placed against the background of the Hebrew people—their past history, the land, and how their neighbors have reacted to their presence throughout the centuries. A balanced view of both sides. $7.95

RELIGIOUS INQUIRY:

An Introduction to the Why and How

Samuel Southard. A brief introduction to the theory and practice of empirical investigation of religion, including illustrations of religious research already done and sources of additional information. Paper, $3.95

BIBLE-RELATED CURRICULUM MATERIALS: A Bibliography

(The Bible in Literature Courses)

Edited by Thayer S. Warshaw, Betty Lou Miller, James S. Ackerman. This well-organized material was compiled by participants in the summer sessions of Indiana University Institute on Teaching the Bible in Secondary English. # The Religious Experience of Mankind

NINIAN SMART

"A history of mankind centered on religion. His subject is a huge one for a single volume, and the treatment is encyclopedic. Mr. Smart's book is timely, and it will be valuable, not only for Christians and non-Christians, but also for the non-Christian majority of mankind."

—Arnold J. Toynbee, on the first edition, New York Times Book Review

The Second Edition has been updated to include new information on African religions, and on the present and future state of religion.

PRINCIPLES OF CHRISTIAN THEOLOGY

John Macquarrie

This widely acclaimed complete systematic theology reflects a profound and far-reaching concern for the vital issues under consideration in Christian thought today. Robert McAfee Brown observed of Professor Macquarrie that possibly no one "has a greater ability to summarize and describe varying points of view with such scrupulous fairness and clarity, and yet maintain a distinctive position of his own."

Professor Macquarrie describes philosophical theology influenced by existentialism, ontology, phenomenology, and logical analysis, and examines the various proofs for the existence of God. He interprets symbolic theology as well as applied theology—the concrete expressions of Christianity in the world. New material includes topics such as the individual and society, truth, demons, atonement, the Holy Spirit, the papacy and collegiality.

Society of Biblical Literature CENTENNIAL PUBLICATIONS PROGRAM

Announcements

The Society of Biblical Literature is planning two principal series of publications leading up to and probably following upon its centennial celebration in 1980. One is a series of studies on The Bible in American Culture, the other a series of Studies in American Biblical Scholarship.

The Committee on Centennial Publications (Robert W. Funk and Edwin S. Gaustad, co-chairmen) determined at the outset to launch a series of studies concerned with the Bible in American culture. This series is to include the following larger projects:

The Bible and Bibles in America, to be edited by Ernest S. Frerichs, has to do with the Bible as physical object, including editions and translations. Some attention will be devoted to Bible printing and printers. The study will include other American Bibles, such as the Book of Mormon.

The Bible and Popular Culture is to include the Bible in radio and television programming, the cinema, daily newspapers, popular piety, as well as in church, synagogue, preaching, and humor. Allene S. Phy will be the editor.

The Bible in Letters and the Arts will embrace the relation of the Bible to the visual arts, music, philosophy, science, literature, and classical scholarship, to mention only a few components of this herculean task. John and Jane Dillenberger are the editors.

The Bible in American Law and Rhetoric, edited by James Smylie: in this study the editors propose to investigate the influence of the Bible on colonial and state law, how politicians use the Bible, and the Bible as "legal" problem in American society.

The Bible in American Education: in this volume, to be edited tentatively by Nicholas Piediscalzi, attention will be given to public and private schools, higher education and lower, the Sunday school and Bible college movements, Torah schools, and the sociology of knowledge as regards biblical scholarship.

The Bible and Social Concern. Under this heading the Committee proposes to take up such topics as women, slavery, ecology, and utopianism. Ernest Sandeen has accepted the editorship of this volume.

Out of these more detailed studies it is hoped that two shorter, less formidable volumes will be distilled: one on the Bible in American culture, the other concerning the ways the Bible has been interpreted and used in the American tradition.

The general editor of this series is Professor Edwin S. Gaustad, University of California at Riverside. As Associate Editors he has enlisted the help of Walter Harrelson of Vanderbilt and Samuel Sandmel of Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati.

The other major wing of the SBL Centennial publications program has been given the general title, Studies in American Biblical Scholarship. This series will be co-edited by E. Brooks Holifield of Emory University and Robert W. Funk of the University of Montana. The editors presently envision six subdivisions.

The first subseries will be called Scholars and Schools and will include three different kinds of works: (1) studies of biblical faculties as wholes at institutions such as Andover, Harvard, Princeton, Union, Chicago; (2) studies of schools of scholarship, such as the Social Gospel movement (old or classical liberal scholarship), rational orthodoxy (nineteenth century), Albright school, biblical theology movement; (3) studies of individual scholars, from Norton and Stuart to Albright and Cadbury.

The editors do not have in mind a particular number of volumes or a precise agenda. They do, however, hope to issue at least one volume a year in each category as we draw closer to the Centennial. In this series volumes will be approximately one hundred finished pages. Books on F. C. Porter and B. W. Bacon are in press; a volume on the Chicago School is in progress.

A second subseries will be devoted to American Contributions to Biblical Scholarship. These volumes will run approximately two hundred finished pages and will be published as they are completed. The editors have in mind historical studies of those subdisciplines to which Americans have made notable contributions: textual criticism, biblical archaeology, Bible translations, Near Eastern languages, scholarly lives of Jesus, Greek philology, the Bible and literary criticism, to mention the more obvious cases.

In addition to these series, the Committee is commissioning three volumes devoted to the description and assessment of the present state of the discipline. The three volumes, devoted to Hebrew Scriptures, intertestamental literature, and the New Testament, will each be broken into subtopics.

Announcing:

STUDIES IN AMERICAN BIBLICAL SCHOLARSHIP / SCHOOLS & SCHOLARS

EDITED BY

E. BROOKS HOLIFIELD AND ROBERT W. FUNK

Studies of two turn-of-the-century Yale greats by an author who believes that "American biblical students have been conditioned to expect something less from their countrymen, and as a result have ignored a century of their history." He takes two important steps in overcoming that conditioning and dispelling that ignorance.

VOLUME II

BENJAMIN WISNER BACON:

Pioneer in American Biblical Criticism

BY ROY A. HARRISVILLE

paper $6.00 (4.00 for members of cSPs sponsoring societies)

Published by Scholars Press for The Society of Biblical Literature

Individual authors will be invited to prepare treatments of each subtopic and these may be published as fascicles as they are completed, should this procedure prove advisable. Eventually the volumes will be assembled, an overview written, and the set published as a whole.

Gene Tucker and Douglas Knight are editing the volume on Hebrew Scriptures, Robert Kraft and George Nickelsburg the studies of intertestamental literature, and Eldon Epp and George MacRae the volume on New Testament scholarship.

The Committee feels that it would be inappropriate not to have works treating confessional biblical scholarship as well. Accordingly, the Committee is planning a two-volume, worldwide history of Jewish scholarship, a study of American Catholic scholarship, which the Catholic Biblical Association has been invited to co-sponsor, and a history of evangelical scholarship.

To this ambitious list the Committee proposes adding a further important item. When the four parts just described are more or less complete, a comprehensive history of American biblical scholarship, based on the data and analyses then available, will be commissioned. This history will endeavor to place biblical scholarship within the history of American culture, religion, and education.

Finally, the editors have commissioned John L. McKenzie and Pierson Parker to produce a history of the Society of Biblical Literature and the fortunes of American biblical scholarship, 1880-1980, particularly as those fortunes are related to the Society. Professor Parker is already at work at Claremont; Professor McKenzie will join him anon.

The editors-in-chief of the publications program, Robert W. Funk and Edwin S. Gaustad, wish to invite inquiries and proposals from members of the Society and others. Editors of particular series and volumes would also welcome suggestions. Assignments are far from complete, especially in the Studies in American Biblical Scholarship series.

The Editorial Committee on Centennial publications for the Society of Biblical Literature consists of Edwin S. Gaustad and Robert W. Funk, co-chairmen, James Hennessey, S.J., E. Brooks Holifield, Gene M. Tucker, Douglas A. Knight, and Eldon J. Epp.

News from Scholars Press

Developments have occurred with such rapidity at Scholars Press since its formal inception two years ago, and since the organization of the larger, umbrella entity, the Center for Scholarly Publishing and Services (CSPS), that we have scarcely had time to report to sponsors and members. These brief news items are a preliminary effort to remedy that shortcoming.

A New Sponsor of cSPs

The AAR and the SBL were the original full sponsors of the Center and Press. As full sponsors, the two societies contribute $2 each year per member to support member services and the Press. As a consequence, they have membership on the governing board of the Center in accordance with the size of their memberships (three board members each).

We are pleased to announce that the American Schools of Oriental Research became a full sponsor during the course of the year. President Frank M. Cross and Treasurer Thomas D. Newman will represent the ASOR on the Center board. The ASOR is presently in the process of transferring its membership lists to Missoula. It began to publish the Bulletin and the Biblical Archeologist through SP during 1975-76. Noel Freedman is the ASOR Vice President in charge of publications.

The ASOR has joined the AAR/SBL annual meeting beginning this fall in St. Louis (28-31 October). In addition to the ASOR program, the Trustees will meet for the first time in conjunction with a general meeting. ASOR members who are not already members of AAR and SBL will find a warm welcome in St. Louis!

An Affiliate of cSPs

Harvard Theological Review

The Harvard Theological Review moved to SP during 1975-76. Subscriptions ($10 member, until 1 January 1977 when the rate becomes $12; $6 student) may be sent to SP.

The remaining two issues for 1975 were in press (15 July 1976). We anticipate that HTR will be current with the first issue in 1977.

The Harvard Dissertations in Religion, edited by Caroline Bynum and George Rupp, also began publication through Scholars Press during the year. Four volumes had appeared by 30 June. Additional volumes are expected in the fall of 1976.

Editor Helmut Koester is in the process of transferring the very distinguished series, Harvard Theological Studies, to Scholars Press. Back numbers as well as future volumes will be handled by SP. Details of this and other Harvard series may be found in the current SP checklist.

New Sponsors of Scholars Press

Harvard Semitic Museum

The Harvard Semitic Monographs, sponsored by the Harvard Semitic Museum and edited by Frank M. Cross, Jr., began publication at Scholars in the fall of 1975. Three volumes have appeared and one is in press. Four more are in process.

New Directors at SP

James W. Flanagan is joining the faculty of the Department of Religious Studies at the University of Montana and will become Associate Director of Scholars Press. Jim has been teaching at the University of Michigan for the past three years and assisting Noel Freedman with the development of the Religious Studies program there. Before moving to Michigan, he was professor and chairman of the department at Loras College, Dubuque, Iowa. He is the current president of the College Theology Society. He assumes his duties in Missoula on 1 September.

With the resignation of Doug Adams to join the faculty of the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, the faculty and staff in Missoula have recommended the appointment of Harry C. Stafford as Doug's successor. Harry has his Ph.D. from Florida State University in Humanities. He has taught at FSU and Presbyterian College, Clinton, South Carolina. He will teach in the Department of Religious Studies and the humanities program at the University of Montana, and assume responsibilities as Assistant Director of Scholars Press.

Apologies to Authors and Editors

SP wishes to extend apologies to those authors and editors whose works are either in production or are scheduled for production in the near future but have not yet been listed in the checklist.

We have developed the firm policy out of experience: titles are not listed for sale until their publication date is firm and within ninety days of the appearance of the checklist. We spend far too much time answering inquiries about works offered for sale but which are not yet published. We are trying to avoid confusion with individuals and especially libraries, and we would like to keep paperwork to a minimum. We therefore hope authors and editors who have works pending at SP will understand our reasons for not listing titles the appearance of which prior to the Annual Meeting 1976 is not certain. We will produce your work and list it at the earliest possible date!

Production 1975-76

During 1975-76, Scholars Press produced on behalf of its sponsors fifty-eight books and twenty-four issues of journals, for a total of eighty-two items.

Twenty-five books were produced under the sponsorship of SBL, seventeen at the request of AAR. The next most productive sponsor was ASOR with five. It is worth noting that the AAR has greatly expanded its publishing programs in the year just ended. The ASOR moved its publications to SP during the course of the year, so its activities are not yet fully reflected in the production figures given.

Fifty-eight books in 1975-76 compares with 27 in 1974-75, 29 in 1973-74, 25 in 1972-73, and 4 in 1971-72, the startup year.

Scholars Press has been able to hold the economic line but just barely. The average price of SP books through 1974-75 remained under $3. During the current year it rose to $3.40. The vast majority of SP books are still priced at $3 or less. However, we have begun to publish larger books with member prices of $5, $6, and even $7.50. These larger, often illustrated books skew the average, of course. And, unfortunately, it is very difficult any longer to produce the book priced under $3, owing mostly to the costs of order fulfillment and mailing. But with its center of gravity still well under $5, we believe Scholars Press continues to fulfill an important function in scholarly publishing.

PRE-REGISTRATION

In order to avoid long lines and delays, persons attending the 1976 Annual Meeting are encouraged to pre-register. Those whose pre-registration forms arrive in the offices of the Center for Scholarly Publishing and Services prior to 11 October 1976 will be sent name tags, breakfast tickets (if ordered), and tickets to be exchanged at the Annual Meeting for books of abstracts. They will not be required to line up at all.

Packets for those whose pre-registration arrives at cSPs after 11 October, but prior to the meeting itself, will be prepared in advance of the meeting and distributed at a special express desk located in the East Assembly Area of the Stouffer's meeting floor.

PRE-REGISTRATION FEES are: $10/members, $15/non-members, and $5/student and retired members, spouses, and one-day registrants.

REGISTRATION

Only those who register at the meeting itself will need to use the Registration facilities.

The registration area for the Annual Meeting will be located in the East Assembly Area on the meeting level in Stouffer's Riverfront Towers (see Stouffer's meeting floor plan). Those who have not pre-registered should register as soon as possible after checking in at the hotel.
