Preregistration fees are in force until 15 October 1980, after which time participants must register at the higher registration fees listed below.

Registration

Persons who do not preregister or who do so too late to receive registration packets by mail may register at the meeting. A registration office will be available at the Loews-Anatole Hotel. Registration fees are: $20 regular AAR, SBL, and Associate members; $10 for AAR and SBL student and retired members; $30 nonmembers; $15 student and retired nonmembers; $5.00 spouse; and $10 one-day registrants.

Membership Applications

For the convenience of prospective new members of the American Academy of Religion and the Society of Biblical Literature, tear-out membership applications can be found in the center of this Program. Information about membership and subscriptions can be found elsewhere in the Program. Please check the Table of Contents for the specific location.

Refund Policy

Persons who preregistered for the meeting and are unable to attend can receive a partial refund of their preregistration fees by returning their badges and exchange tickets to Scholars Press. There is a $5.00 charge for administrative costs, supplies, and postage. Requests for refunds which arrive after 30 November 1980 will not be honored.

American Schools of Oriental Research

By special arrangement with the American Academy of Religion and the Society of Biblical Literature, the American Schools of Oriental Research will hold its annual meeting in conjunction with the AAR/SBL joint meeting. As a result, ASOR members may register for the meeting at the member price. ASOR members who are also members of the SBL or AAR should indicate those affiliations on their registration form.

Accommodations

Regular & Associate Members

The 1980 Joint AAR/SBL and Associates Annual Meeting will be headquartered in the Loews-Anatole and Marriott hotels at the Dallas Market Center. Most AAR and SBL sessions will be located in the Loews-Anatole; however, some sessions will be held in the Marriott Hotel which is directly across the street. All sessions for Associates will be scheduled in space at the Marriott Hotel.

Persons registering for the 1980 meeting may request rooms in the Loews or the Marriott. Requests for either property will be honored as long as space is available. If one hotel sells out, reservations will automatically be sent to the remaining hotel until such time as it, too, is full.

When both the Loews-Anatole and the Marriott no longer have space available, reservations will be sent to the Holiday Inn or to the Quality Inn, both of which are within one block walking distance of the Loews-Anatole.

The convention management has provided for a total of 1,600 bedrooms within walking distance of the headquarters hotels. In the event that all 1,600 bedrooms are sold out, late registrants will be assigned rooms at the Dupont Plaza. The Dupont Plaza is not within walking distance. Consequently, its management has agreed to run a shuttle bus to and from the Loews-Anatole and Marriott hotels during convention hours.

The following are the rooms and room rates available for the 1980 Annual Meeting:

Loews-Anatole	800	$38 single $46 double/twin $54 triple
Marriott Hotel	400	$36 single $46 double/twin $52 triple
Holiday Inn	200	$32 single $40 double/twin
Quality Inn	200	$32 single $40 double/twin
Dupont Plaza	200	$32 single $40 double/twin

Student & Retired Members

In addition to the rooms described above, seventy-five rooms have been set aside at the Best Western Market Center hotel which is directly adjacent to the Loews-Anatole. Rooms at the Best Western have been confirmed at a special low price of $27 single and $33 double or twin. Only student and retired members may request rooms at the Best Western. In order to reserve a room, please complete the special Student and Retired Room Reservation Request on the reverse side of the regular Room Request form in the center of this issue of Scholia. Students must have their room requests endorsed by an advisor who certifies that they presently hold student status.

When there are no longer rooms at the Best Western, requests will be forwarded to the Quality Inn, the Holiday Inn, or the Dupont Plaza, depending on the availability of space. All three motels have confirmed rates below those of the two headquarter hotels (see preceding section).

Breakfast Sessions

Tickets for the Friday morning breakfast sessions of the American Academy of Religion can be purchased for $5.00 from Scholars Press (please fill out information on reverse side of the preregistration form). Requests for seats at breakfast sessions must arrive before 31 October 1980. Each breakfast group is limited to 10 persons, including the author of the paper. Seats will be assigned on a first come, first served basis.

Tickets for AAR and other breakfasts not included in the breakfast sessions are generally available from the organizers of the session. For more information, please contact the Chairperson or Presider.

Placement Office

A Placement Office will be maintained in the Crocodile Disco in Atrium II during the 1980 AAR/SBL Annual Meeting. Candidates seeking interviews and institutions with job openings should check in with the attendant and leave a one page dossier as early as possible during the conference. The hours for the Placement Office are:

Thursday, November 6	8:30 am to 3 pm
Friday, November 7	8:30 am to 3 pm
Saturday, November 8	8:30 am to 3 pm

Attendant: Judy Hubbard

Workshop for Authors and Editors

Scholars Press is conducting a workshop for authors and editors, practicing and potential, in conjunction with the AAR/SBL annual meeting. The workshop will meet mornings from 7:30-9:00 am, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in the Chambers Auditorium. Continental breakfast will be served, for those participants desiring it, from 7:00-7:30 am in the Crocodile Disco next door to the Chambers.

The Workshop will be devoted to the preparation of abstracts, indexes, and bibliographies. Sessions will be led by James Dunkly, librarian at Nashotah House and general editor of the new Scholars Press Bibliographic Series, with the assistance of experts.

Participants are required to preregister by sending name, address, and phone number to Scholars Press, 101 Salem Street, Chico, CA 95926, together with a registration fee of $10. Those wishing to have breakfast should add $15. Registration for the sessions will be limited; participants are accordingly advised to register early.

Additional Meetings

The following non AAR/SBL meetings will be held in the Loews-Anatole during the 1980 meeting: The Religious Studies Review will hold a meeting of the editorial board from 2:00 to 5:00 pm on Wednesday, 5 November, in the Edelweiss Room; the Philo Institute will hold its Annual Meeting from 7:00-12:00 pm following dinner at 7:00 pm, Thursday, 6 November, in the Inverness Room; and the Board of Directors of The College Theology Society will meet from 7:30-10:30 pm in the Peridot Room at the Loews-Anatole.

Programs

Programs will be for sale at the Registration Booth and at the Scholars Press Book Booth for a price of $3.00. Members who forget theirs can purchase a second copy.

Publishers' Combined Display

Scholars who have published a book within the past year and would like to have their book on display at the 1980 Annual Meeting should contact their publishers and encourage them to participate in the exhibit. Publishers who do not have a sufficient number of titles to warrant renting a booth can exhibit their books in the Publishers' Combined Display.

The 1980 Combined Display will be located in the Exhibit Hall near Scholars Press. It will be designed in such a way as to insure good visibility for both the publishers and the titles included in it.

Arrangements for participation can be made by contacting Publishers' Combined Display, Scholars Press, 101 Salem Street, Chico, CA 95926. Tel: (916) 891-4541.

Exhibits

Forty exhibitors will be displaying their books in the Exhibit Hall on the third level of the Loews-Anatole. Exhibitors include Scholars Press, a variety of commercial, denominational, and university presses, a publishers' combined display, and a microfiche and reader display. Names and locations of exhibitors can be found on the exhibit hall floorplan.

Exhibits will be open during the following hours:

Thursday, 6 November	8 am to 6 pm
Friday, 7 November	8 am to 6 pm
Saturday, 8 November	8 am to 6 pm

Publishers wishing to dispose of their display copies will do so at 5:00 pm on Saturday, 8 November.

Convention Message Center

Through the courtesy of the Loews-Anatole, we will have a convention message center at the Information Desk on the main floor of the Loews. Incoming messages for persons attending the convention will be received at the Message Center and recorded by the attendants. The name of each person for whom a message is received will be listed on a message board. Please check the Message Center periodically to avoid missing calls since there is no facility for paging.

To leave a message, please call the Loews-Anatole, (214) 748-1200, and tell the hotel operator that you would like the extension for the AAR/SBL Convention Message Center.

Persons attending the convention should leave this number with their office and with anyone else they expect to call them during the convention. Attendants will be on duty during the following hours:

Wednesday, 5 November	1 pm to 6 pm
Thursday, 6 November	8 am to 6 pm
Friday, 7 November	8 am to 6 pm
Saturday, 8 November	8 am to 6 pm

Rendezvous for Officers and Editors

The JADE ROOM has been designated the RENDEZVOUS ROOM for officers and editors for the 1980 Annual Meeting.

The purpose of this room is to provide a place for officers, editors, and their guests to sit down, relax, converse and consult, and take refreshment during the course of the day. The room will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. daily, Thursday through Saturday, and from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon on Sunday. The JADE ROOM is located on the main floor next to the clock tower and opposite the Kiosk.

SCHOLARS PRESS ORDER FULFILLMENT

Book orders received during the course of the move from Missoula to Chico have now been filled, with the exception of orders for titles temporarily out of stock or on back order from other publishers. If members or others placed an order with the Press recently and have not heard from us, please advise. In the process of getting settled in new quarters and training new staff, we may have misplaced files or the U.S. Postal Service may have been remiss in forwarding mail from Missoula.

The staff of the Press is grateful for the patience members and libraries have extended during the transition. We shall do our best to restore service to its previous level.

Ancient Scribes and Modern Scholars

An exhibition of photographs and original artifacts illustrating a century of manuscript discoveries and the scholars who studied them

Throughout the past century major manuscript discoveries enriched and influenced the development of biblical scholarship. Scarcely a decade has gone by without an excited and frequently exaggerated announcement that newly uncovered writings will provide vital clues to missing chapters in the story of the past.

Clay tablets, leather scrolls, papyrus books, and inscribed ostraca from the Ancient Near East have yielded their secrets as a result of the patient study and dramatic decipherments by modern scholars. In an exhibit especially prepared to observe the 100th anniversary of The Society of Biblical Literature, the fascinating stories of these manuscript discoveries and the scholars associated with them are presented. From the Cairo geniza to the Qumran caves, from Oxyrynchus to Nag Hammadi, and from Elephantine to Elba, the varieties of written material now available to scholars encompass the turbulent world in which the writers of the Bible lived.

This exhibit features the work of ancient scribes who preserved the sacred and secular writings in which communities recounted their mythical origins, sang their songs, and recorded the experiences of daily life. Their modern counterparts historians and philologists, theologians and exegetes recreate that ancient world and interpret its significance by developing scholarly tools and methods to deal with the new evidence. Theoretical models and empirical data stand alongside ancient credos and modern myths in the ongoing scholarly enterprise of dealing responsibly with the cultural and religious heritage that nurtures our modern world.

This exhibit recalls with appreciation past generations of biblical scholars and recognizes the accomplishments of their present day successors. It illustrates that whether the message was laboriously recorded one character at a time on clay or interpreted by means of an analysis printed on computer paper at 55 characters per second, the story of human beings and their search for truth and the meaning of life forms the enduring focal point of a century of biblical scholarship in America.

Institutions and the Advancement of Scholarship

The development of great schools and scholars in the field of Biblical studies in North America was dependent upon many factors. One of the most significant of these has been the support, encouragement, and haven offered by educational institutions. A century ago at the beginning mark of the SBL, several institutions played such significant roles. To enhance recognition of this formative role of educational institutions, a representative group of institutions has been asked to arrange displays illustrating portions of their own histories. They will focus on significant contributions to biblical studies by individual faculty members, the rise of schools of interpretation, and upon special fields of endeavor within biblical studies. Each exhibit will be unique as are the histories of the institutions. The centennial program committee anticipates that this exhibit as a whole will be interesting, informative, and pertinent to a centennial year.

Institutions to be represented are:

Union Theological Seminary in New York
Harvard Divinity School
Hebrew Union College—Jewish Institute of Religion, Cincinnati
Princeton Theological Seminary
Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville
University of Chicago Divinity School
Vanderbilt Divinity School
Yale Divinity School

Publishers and the Advance of Scholarship

Major academic publishers in North America are providing an illustrated overview of the role of publishers in the advancement of biblical scholarship at the joint AAR/SBL meeting in Dallas. The exhibits will embrace the dissemination of scholarship in the academy, synagogue, church, and public sector. Several publishers are creating discrete displays, and there will be a combined presentation.

The exhibits will cover the spectrum of Protestant/Catholic/Jewish and secular scholarship. The exhibits will be strictly noncommercial. Denominational houses, university presses, commercial trade publishers, and major textbook houses will be represented. Naturally, these special centennial displays will be in addition to the regular commercial exhibits.

Publishers will highlight major series, including commentaries and bibles, monographs, textbooks, and general works. Some publishers are planning historical exhibits, consisting of manuscripts, photos, correspondence, catalogues, brochures, and other materials related to the SBL Centennial.

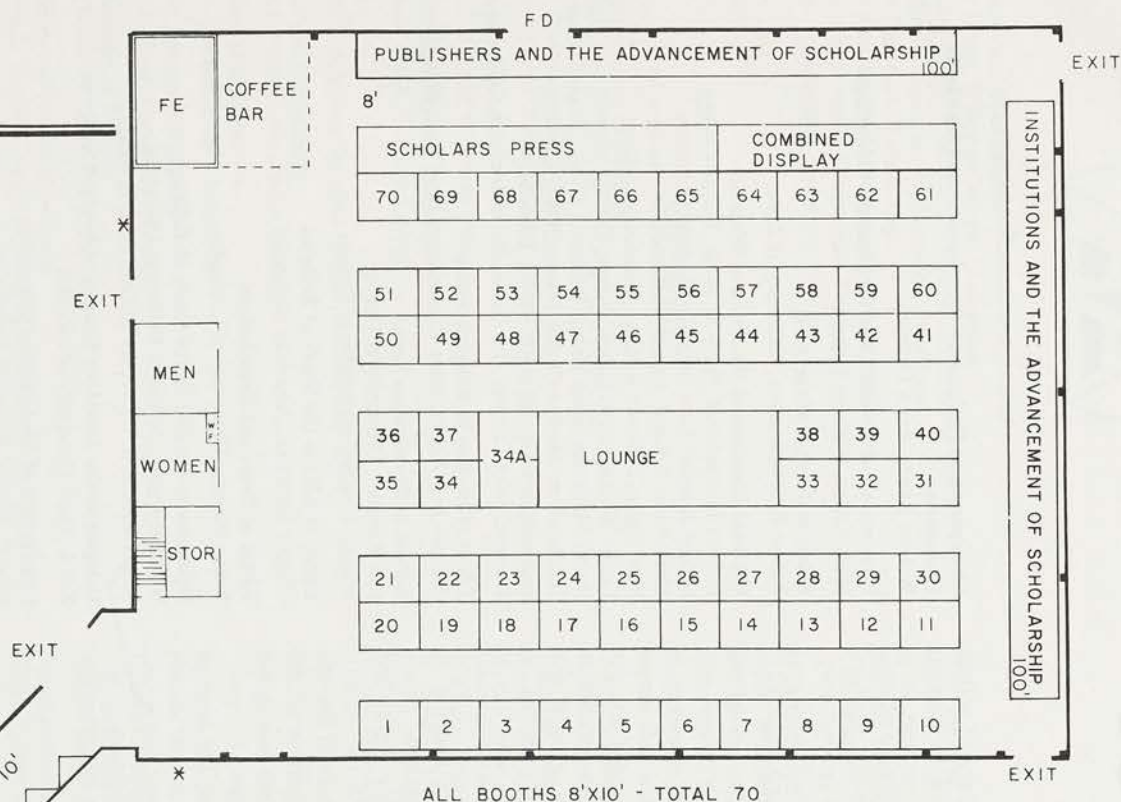

These unique exhibits will embody eloquent testimony to the glorious days of yore when scholars and publishers together wrote the history of biblical and cognate scholarship. They will also point to the current and future prospects for the partnership between and among scholars, teachers, students, and their publishing friends.

AMERICAN ACADEMY OF RELIGION

The American Academy of Religion is a society of college and university professors and others engaged in teaching and research in the field of religion. Its purpose is to stimulate scholarship, foster research and promote learning in the complex of disciplines that constitute religion as a field of inquiry.

Publications of the Academy and the convening of annual national and regional meetings implement these aims. Publications include the quarterly Journal of the American Academy of Religion and monographs in the various series listed elsewhere on this page. The structure of the annual meeting of the Academy reflects the varied scholarly concerns of its members and provides for the development of both special interests and cross-disciplinary conversations in the general sessions, sections, groups, and seminars. These program units, formed in response to interests of the members, change to keep pace with movement in the field of religion.

The Academy is also a professional society keeping its membership of informed of developing programs, newly available materials, and opportunities for study grants and research funds. The Academy is affiliated with the American Council of Learned Societies and the Council on the Study of Religion and cooperates in the publication of the CSR Bulletin, a professional news magazine, and also in the publication of a job registry in the field of religion.

In addition to those whose interests are in the area of religion, many members whose primary professional identification is with societies serving other disciplines find membership in the Academy important in maintaining cross-disciplinary communication and in providing an overview of the field of religion.

A Note of Appreciation

Plans for celebrating the centennial of the Society of Biblical Literature began officially in 1972 when the Council established the Centennial Committee, with Gene M. Tucker as the chairman. Walter Harrelson, Robert W. Funk, and others on the Council were initially responsible for developing the idea that this anniversary event should provide the Society with a needed occasion for critically examining the nature and progress of American biblical scholarship. The work acquired a further dimension in 1975 with the launching of a new series of monographs and multi-authored volumes, the Centennial Publications Program. Numerous individuals over the years have made important contributions to various plans leading up to this centennial year of 1980. To all of them we extend our appreciation for the hard work and inspiration they have provided over the last several years.

SBL 1980 PROGRAM

WELCOME to the 1980 Annual Meeting, celebrating the 100th Anniversary of the Society of Biblical Literature. The program is worthy of the occasion, with many invited presentations, notable guest speakers, a festive 100th Anniversary banquet, displays, and much more. As has been our custom, the Society is again meeting in conjunction with the American Academy of Religion and we welcome them to our festivities. This year, appropriately I think to begin our second century as a Society, we are inaugurating a new venture, the Scholars Press Associates Convention, intended to present to non-specialists the results of scholarly study of the Bible. We welcome them as well to our meeting sessions. Welcome to what promises to be a memorable five days.

AAR 1980 PROGRAM

ON behalf of the officers and members of the American Academy of Religion, I am pleased to extend congratulations and felicitations to the Society of Biblical Literature on the occasion of its one hundredth birthday. The Academy also congratulates Scholars Press Associates on its inaugural meeting. The Centennial program of the SBL and the inaugural program of SPA are warmly welcome as an enrichment of the AAR program, which has itself greatly improved in recent years.

The program that follows is a veritable feast on which even the discriminating mind may surfeit itself.

New from Prentice-Hall: The Old Testament Presented in its Historical Context

THE OLD TESTAMENT STORY

John H. Tullock, Belmont College

This class-tested introductory text provides a clear, non-technical description of Old Testament studies in its historical context. Attention is centered on the Biblical material, introducing the student to what the Biblical text says, rather than what is said about it. The high degree of readability grasps and holds student interest and critical issues, deemed important for the beginning student, are raised.

Chapter I begins explaining what the Old Testament is and how it began. The text continues through 150 AD, and concludes with the subjects of life in the Jewish community and the rise of Parties and Sects. These features make this outstanding text a leader in its field.

Chapter questions, summaries and bibliographies increase understandability and are helpful in focusing on important elements. Sample maps, illustrations and photographs keyed to Biblical passages are also included, illuminating the book and making it more meaningful. Contains a chronological chart at the book's end.

Speech, Silence, Action!

The Cycle of Faith

VIRGINIA RAMEY MOLLENKOTT, distinguished author and scholar, shares her intensely personal reflections in the story of her "renaissance of faith"—the development of a life style in which speech, silence, and action have formed a constantly renewing cycle. Moving from her fundamentalist background into a more liberating Christian outlook, Dr. Mollenkott deals forcefully with the concepts of sex, race, and biblical interpretation as she pleads for "a balance between reason and emotion in religious life." Her story offers renewed faith for anyone struggling to face the areas of injustice in the world and in their own experiences. $7.95

Creative Dislocation— The Movement of Grace

With penetrating insight and disarming humor, ROBERT McAFEE BROWN reflects on his "creative dislocations"—the physical, mental, emotional, and political upheavals that have shaped his life. From the anti-war demonstrations in the U.S. to the recent unrest in South Africa, readers will meet the man who lives his convictions to identify with the world's oppressed. His chilling experiences in the last two decades result in a gripping first-hand look at the challenge of the years ahead. His story will not leave you unchanged. $7.95

New from Abingdon—The Biblical Encounters Series—A comprehensive collection of material from the Old and New Testaments, competently translated from the popular German series, on questions and issues which affect contemporary life.

Suffering

Erhard S. Gerstenberger and Wolfgang Schrage; translated by John E. Steely

Two specialists examine the universal questions of suffering in light of the Scriptures. The authors consider both the individual and social dimensions and counter many of the widely held views that the Bible teaches the stoic acceptance of suffering. Drs. Gerstenberger and Schrage present not only what the Old and New Testaments had to say to their day but how those insights can be related to these times. $8.95, paper

Festival and Joy

Eckart Otto and Tim Schramm;
translated by James L. Blevins

This vital addition to the Biblical Encounters Series explores the responses to fear as revealed by the Scripture sources. The authors demonstrate that this universal emotion was not only encountered but overcome by the ancient people of the Bible through the joys communicated in their feasts and festivals in the Old Testament; in the New, through an inner life of joy which replaced even the outward rituals. Otto and Schramm present a fascinating exploration of a universal emotion. $7.95, paper

World and Environment

Odil Hannes Steck; translated by Margaret Kohl

In a thorough and responsible investigation, the author examines the theological implications of the environmental crisis. He focuses on the Old and New Testament concepts of humanity and its relation to nature, and skillfully applies these concepts to today's environmental issues. $10.95, paper

With All Your Mind: A Christian Philosophy Yandall Woodfin

Anchored firmly within the traditional Christian faith and informed fully of the rich philosophical heritage, the author presents a superb introductory text in philosophy from a Christian perspective. He relates Christianity to other major world faiths and his insights on the complementarity of science and religion and on the universal problem of evil are of particular interest. $8.95, paper

Faith and Freedom: Toward a Theology of Liberation

Schubert M. Ogden has just completed a book which will be useful to the person interested in contemporary theology."—F. William Ratliff/Review and Expositor

"... I recommend [FAITH AND FREEDOM: TOWARD A THEOLOGY OF LIBERATION] as a significant contribution to the Liberation discussion."—Nelson Trout/Trinity Seminary Review

"The book is carefully written. It demands serious reflection on the part of the reader... This volume will provoke critical thinking in those following contemporary liberation theology."—Noel Hackmann Barrett/Review for Religions $3.95, paper

Introduction to the Code of Maimonides (Mishneh Torah)

Isadore Twersky

Isadore Twersky, regarded as one of the foremost authorities on Jewish studies, has written a comprehensive and carefully researched study of the Mishneh Torah, Maimonides' unprecedented fourteen-volume code of Jewish law. Designed to serve as a general introduction to this opus, the book discusses the literary, philosophical, historical, and legal aspects of the Code, as well as the motives for its composition and the methods of its creation. $40.00

The Age of Reform, 1250-1550

An Intellectual and Religious History of Late Medieval and Reformation Europe

Steven Ozment

Ozment believes that the Reformation was a continuation of certain aspects of medieval thought as well as a revolt against others. Oliver O'Donovan

Despite its position as a central concept in Christian theology, the notion of self-love has rarely been thoroughly examined. ## The Huguenot Struggle for Recognition

N. M. Sutherland

This book traces the Huguenots' struggle for recognition and political reintegration from 1521 to the edict of Nantes in 1598. Treating for the first time the whole series of "religious" edicts as a single corpus of material, it is the only comprehensive study in any language of royal religious policy throughout the entire sixteenth century and will be invaluable for anyone interested in the French Reformation. $25.00

Hebrew Verse Structure

Michael Patrick O'Connor

Beginning with Lowth's classic description of Hebrew poetry and interacting with scholarly discussion since, O'Connor formulates a description intended to meet the standards of both philologist and linguist. The main focus is on the poetry of the Pentateuch, the Former and Latter Prophets, and the Psalms, but fundamental to the approach is a discussion of the character of verse in general. A definitive study of interest to anyone interested in poetry, and Hebrew poetry in particular.

Approximately 600 pages. Cloth. Indexed. November. $15.00.

Pottery, Poetry and Prophecy: Studies in Early Hebrew Poetry

HISTORY AND CRITICISM OF THE MARCAN HYPOTHESIS

by Hans-Herbert Stoldt

English Translation by Donald Niewyk

Hans-Herbert Stoldt's History and Criticism of the Marcan Hypothesis was originally published by Vandenhoeck and Ruprecht in 1977 and is here translated for the first time into English by Donald Niewyk of the faculty of Southern Methodist University. This important contribution to the world of New Testament studies attempts to demonstrate that Marcan priority rests upon an insecure critical basis. But in coming back to the Griesbach Hypothesis, New Testament scholarship is by no means where it was 100 years ago. The course of the spiral is at a different level altogether. In fact, in light of Stoldt's work, this would seem a propitious time for new appraisals and fresh approaches to many areas of New Testament study.

CARLYLE MARNEY A PILGRIM'S PROGRESS

by John J. Carey

Carlyle Marney, a prominent and colorful Southern Baptist pastor and theologian of national ecumenical significance, is the subject of this thoughtful volume by John J. Carey, Chairman of the Department of Religion at Florida State University. Attention is given to Marney's Baptist ties as the author examines his roots, pilgrimage, and theological transitions. Dr. Carey focuses upon the evolution of Marney's thought and utilizes a "Pilgrim" motif in appraising both his life and theological development. The author consistently conveys Marney's personality and humor.

Drawing on unpublished papers and files, as authorized by Mrs. Elizabeth Marney and the Marney Literary Estate, Dr. Carey identifies Marney's contributions in his vision of a good society, in his affirmation of a forward-looking church, and in his emphasis upon the person. An interesting epilogue describes Marney's view of heaven and gives us a glimpse into one of his lighter moods of theological writing.

The Andromache of Euripides: An Introduction

The Andromache's difficulties are well known: lack of unity, double plot, anachronism. This book first examines a number of problematic passages to form a coherent view of the play's action. The remainder of the book attempts to discover the play's thematic unity by focusing precisely on those parts that seem intrusive and seeing how they illuminate the rest. A final chapter suggests a new approach to Euripides.

The Apocalypse of Adam: A Literary and Source Analysis

The book identifies and discusses two sources that were edited in antiquity in order to form the present version of the Apocalypse of Adam. One source reflects an early stage of transition from Jewish apocalypticism into gnosticism, while the other source reflects a developed gnostic mythology containing few references to Jewish traditions. The two sources were harmonized in a non-Christian gnostic community practicing an ascetic life style and holding a spiritualized understanding of baptism.

NEW SERIES AT SP

BIBLIOGRAPHY SERIES FROM SP

SP announces the organization of a new publishing project designed to provide brief annotated bibliographies to serve as guides to a wide range of closely defined topics in religion and related fields. These bibliographies will be directed in the main to persons already trained in scholarly methods in the humanities who need to master a new subject rapidly, but students also will be able to make use of them early in their training. Much attention will be given to the sequence in which material should be read and to the efficient employment of the user's time. Rather than the piling up of long lists of publications, these bibliographies will concentrate on selecting materials which are essential to the mastery of their subject, either as primary texts or as secondary analyses that open up the subject—texts, background, history of scholarship, and current discussion. Annotations, therefore, are the key, and experts are being enlisted to provide the best annotations possible.

Each bibliography will be about 100 pages long; an introductory essay giving general principles and the overall lie of the bibliographic land will come first, followed by an annotated and carefully ordered listing of the most important materials to read in order to become initially acquainted with the territory. Finally, there will be a longer list (also annotated) of items demanding acquaintance if one is to master the topic sufficiently to begin contributing to it oneself.

Subject fields will typically be on the order of a single document (e.g. a biblical book), a literary genre, a relatively short period of history, a discrete geographical area, a significant individual, an archaeological site, or an issue or logical grouping of issues in ethics.

The series will be a project of SP itself rather than of any one sponsoring society; indeed, members of all the societies will undoubtedly be drawn into the work as it proceeds. An editorial board is now being formed under the general editorship of James Dunkly, with Robert Funk serving as close advisor. A number of assistant editors, each having charge over a broad subject field, are being engaged to see individual volumes through the Press. Scholars interested in producing a bibliography along these lines in their specialties are invited to write directly to James Dunkly, Librarian, Nashotah House, Nashotah, WI 53058. Mr. Dunkly will also arrange to meet with interested prospective authors at the AAR/SBL Annual Meeting in Dallas.

DISTINGUISHED SCHOLARS SERIES

The aim of this series is to collect the works of distinguished contemporary scholars into one definitive edition. Individual books may of course find their way into the reprint series, but in general it will be the policy of the Press to gather, over an extended period of time, both books and articles into a single edition. The object is to make the library output of distinguished scholars available to members and libraries in a usable form and at a reasonable price.

Nominations of scholars to be included in the series should be sent to Robert W. Funk, editor pro tem. Nominations will be reviewed by a panel of ranking scholars and only those whose work is outstanding in both quality and quantity will be selected for the series.

Scholars who are selected for the series will be asked to commit their literary output in its entirety to Scholars Press. However, distinguished scholars may continue to publish when and where they please for the present so long as (1) they agree to make the Press the ultimate depository of the rights to their works, and (2) they offer the Press the initial publishing opportunity on a significant number of books and articles. Scholars Press will co-publish collected works as appropriate. Distinguished Scholars will of course be paid royalties on their works.

POLEBRIDGE BOOKS

Polebridge Books is a general series of volumes designed as special reports to the non-specialist on aspects of humanistic scholarship.

We are defining the non-specialist broadly. He or she may be anyone who requires or desires a non-technical report on some topic or problem. Non-specialists may thus be scholars who are specialists in another sphere, professionals, such as ministers and rabbis, doctors, lawyers, or other literate persons from any walk of life. The aim of the series is to interpret the fruits of humanistic scholarship to all who are genuinely interested and able to benefit from such interpretation.

The series will range over the full spectrum of subject matter represented in the constituency of the Press.

Suggestions and manuscripts should be directed to the editor pro tem, Robert W. Funk, Director of Scholars Press.

SP ASSOCIATES COURSES AM 1980

Lecturer: Raymond E. Brown, S.S.

Title: How the Early Christians Came to Understand Jesus — A Survey of New Testament Christology

A two-part presentation laying out logically (and to some extent chronologically) the development of New Testament Christology. It will begin with Jesus, move through the early preaching, and the Pauline material; then the four Gospels (the ministry accounts, the birth narratives, the Johannine Prologue). While recognizing the approximate character of our knowledge, the lectures will attempt to explain the various Christian answers to the question of Jesus' uniqueness.

Dr. Brown is Auburn Professor of Biblical Studies at Union Theological Seminary in New York. He was educated at the Catholic University of America, the Gregorian University in Rome, and at the Johns Hopkins University, Maryland. A scholar of world renown, he has taught at major universities and colleges in the US and abroad. Dr. Brown is recipient of numerous awards and honorary degrees. His more recent publications include: The Community of the Beloved Disciple and Mary in the New Testament. In 1977 he won the National Religious Book Award for The Birth of the Messiah.

Lecturer: Nancy E. Auer Falk

Title: Understanding Other Religions: The Traditions of India

Two sessions will be devoted to helping the participants explore and interpret foreign (especially non-western) religious traditions. We will draw on insights developed in the field of history of religions to help us in this task. Principal examples will be taken from the religious traditions of India.

Part I: DOING AND BELIEVING: when priorities differ. This section will pay special attention to the role of yoga (spiritual method) in India and its implications for beliefs about the nature of man and God.

Part II: THEOLOGIES IN STONE, PAINT AND STORY: This section will consider some alternative modes of communicating complex religious ideas. (with slides)

Nancy E. Auer Falk, a graduate of the University of Chicago, is now Professor of Religion at Western Michigan University. Her speciality in the field of religion is South Asian Religion. Dr. Falk's most recent publication is Unspoken Worlds: Women's Religious Lives in Non-Western Societies (co-edited with Rita M. Gross). She has served on numerous professional committees and editorial boards.

Calculated and Uncalculated Moves

The copyright page of Scholars Press titles will henceforth read, Chico: Scholars Press. That notation is as improbable as the previous one. However, bibliographers have already stopped writing, Missoula, Montana: Scholars Press. Perhaps they will accept the inevitable and permit readers to learn for themselves that Chico is in California.

We pulled the plug on the computer on 31 March and moved it to Chico along with approximately half of the operation as quickly and as efficiently as we knew how. The distribution and accounting departments remained behind until the first wave had established a beachhead in the new quarters. Then, with the advent of May day, we loaded out the remaining boxes and equipment and headed WSW. On the 3rd of May the Director sat alone, at a table left behind, in the midst of 7,000 square feet of empty space. The first decade of the Press had come to a dramatic and somewhat sad end.

Moves almost never work out as they are planned. At least, that has been my experience.

We hoped to move our shipping department with the loss of no more than one week. As it turned out, the double transfer of inventory from the University to my garage and then to Chico led to substantial confusion. The roof on the new Chico warehouse leaked tubfuls, but we were assured, as we spread plastic over mountains of boxes, that it never rains in Chico after the 15th of April: our new marketing manager had wet feet until the first of July. In spite of herculean efforts, orders feel nearly a month behind and we all grew quietly desperate. Only the microfiche department, under the steady hand of Alice Perlman, went unruffled.

The computer blinked its eyes at us with hardly a pause, thanks again to David Packard, the patron saint of the Ibycus System. But the processor threw a tantrum that required new parts. The typesetter also had spells of temperament. Char Matejovsky managed to assemble a promising crew of typesetters and plunged into the work. Journals faltered momentarily, but quickly resumed schedule. Books have been more troublesome. The seventy-eight titles currently in production have driven our production manager, Charles Bowman, to keep his log on the computer.

All in all, our old staff and our new equipment adapted to their new environs readily and without untoward complaint. We found new and willing staff out of a greatly expanded pool, by comparison with Missoula. We believe we are better staffed than ever. And our quarters are more comfortable. If we only had filing cabinets in which to store papers and chairs on which to sit, we would be pleased beyond measure. But furniture—much of which we left behind because it belonged to the University of Montana—will have to await a more affluent time.

In our typical style, we endeavored to save money on the move wherever we could.

We bought an old U-Haul vehicle, a 28-foot van, and induced Charles Matejovsky, Char's father, to finance it for us and haul several loads to California into the bargain. On one trip, when Charles Bowman was at the helm, it was discovered that the accelerator was not functioning (40 MPH was top speed); Bowman also suffered (1) a broken battery cable; (2) a defunct fuel pump. Five days later he limped into Chico a haggard and wasted mess. He has renounced trucking forever.

Even the Director took a turn. He lumbered out of Missoula with 31,000 pounds in tow under a cloud of volcanic dust. Two tires later, he decided to rent a temporary warehouse in Challis, Idaho and continue to Chico with a lighter load. For a time, SP books were scattered all over the west: Missoula, Challis, Chico.

We learned one thing from the move: Scholars Press books come to a tidy sum of weight. We estimated 150,000 lbs., but discovered that we had accumulated nearly twice that much. One hundred and fifty tons of books fill about 5,000 boxes. Is it possible that knowledge weighs so heavily?

Our friends and colleagues have been more than generous during this trying period. We appreciate every word of encouragement we have received and we are more than grateful for the patience and understanding extended to us on every hand. But we are glad it is nearly over. And we know you will be happy to have better response from us in all departments. Give us the further boon of proving that we can serve you as we want and as you deserve.

Robert W. Funk, Director
17 July 1980

Special Assistant to the Director

John Schonleber has been appointed Special Assistant to the Director on an interim basis.

John has had broad experience in higher education and humanistic learning. A philosopher by training, he was first Chairman and then Dean at Trent University. He served as Dean and Vice President at Manhattanville College before going to the National Endowment for the Humanities as Special Assistant to the Chairman. Since leaving the Endowment in 1974, John has served as a consultant in institutional planning, public education and community programs. He now resides in Chico, where, as an avocation, he owns and operates a rare book store.

At Scholars Press John has taken on the responsibility for development, personnel, fiscal control, and is giving primary leadership to the Associates program. In addition, he is working with Paul Petersen and Don Morrison in bringing together the Chico "Friends of Scholars Press."

The Challenge Campaign

The Exxon Education Foundation has become the first major national foundation to provide Scholars Press with matching funds for its Challenge Grant campaign. Robert Payton, President of the Foundation, announced recently that a gift of $50,000 would be made to the Press in 1980 to meet the objectives of the Campaign and to match the Federal funds which may be awarded.

An application for a Challenge Grant in the amount of $360,000 was submitted by the Press to the National Endowment for the Humanities in February. Final action on the application will be taken by the National Council on the Humanities at its meeting in August and the Press will be notified of its decision in the early Fall. If successful, the Challenge Grant application requires the Press to match each Federal dollar with three dollars from private sources. If the Endowment awards the amount requested, a total of $1,080,000 must be raised to secure the release of Federal funds.

To date, Scholars Press has raised $788,026 of the required match through the generosity of its sponsors and several friends. At their meeting in Denver in July, members of the Executive Committee of the Board each pledged a gift of at least $100 for the current calendar year.

The Challenge Grant campaign, as described in the proposal to the National Endowment for the Humanities, has three principal objectives:

- 1—to achieve financial stability and independence for the Press;
- 2—to extend the services of the Press to a broader spectrum of the humanities and to a wider constituency;
- and
- 3—to improve its productivity, management and the quality of its services.

These are goals of immediate and continuing importance to the Press and to those it serves.

Already many friends of the Press, on learning of the Challenge Grant campaign, have made generous contributions. Individuals, and especially those who are most familiar with the Press and who have benefitted from its services, are invited to contribute to the campaign. Gifts in any amount are welcome, but it may be useful when making a gift to remember that a gift of $30 releases $10 in Federal money should the Challenge Grant be awarded.

Please use the gift card included in this issue of Scholia to make your contribution since the Endowment may recognize only those gifts which are made explicitly as matching money.

In the next issue of Scholia we hope to be able to give the good and great news that the Endowment has acted favorably on our request. But whether the Challenge Grant application is successful or not, we believe that the Press is well along in this major financial campaign to strengthen and improve services to its members.

Items from the Notebook of a Tamed Secretary (with apologies to R. Niebuhr)

Now that Fall is almost upon us, let me remind you to send in your registration form for the annual meeting Nov. 5-9 in Dallas, and the reservation form for the hotel, if you want to stay in the Loew's Anatole, which is the headquarters hotel. It is a magnificent place, but the number of rooms available is limited and if past performance is any indication, they will be filled rather quickly. The early bird, in this case, gets the room.

A letter from Prof. Claus Westermann, whom the Society elected to honorary membership at the annual meeting last November in New York, contains news that I think will be of interest to SBL members. After expressing again his gratitude for being honored with that membership, Dr. Westermann concluded his letter with the following paragraph (in translation):

"I want to take this opportunity to express to you once more what a great joy the Society of Biblical Literature gave to me by making me an honorary member. The second volume of my Commentary on Genesis, which includes the Patriarchal histories of chapters 12-36, will soon be finished, and I desire to dedicate it to the Society of Biblical Literature."

I have conveyed the gratitude of the Society to Dr. Westermann for recognizing the Society in this way.

Finally, I am happy to report that incorporation proceedings for the SBL have been completed, and the Society is now a corporation of the state of Virginia. This has important legal protection for officers and Council members of the Society, and was a step taken by unanimous vote of the Council. We were perhaps the last learned society in the United States to be incorporated, if a straw poll of the learned society executives I took at the recent annual meeting of the American Council of Learned Societies is any indication.

Executive Secretary, SBL

SPECIAL ORDERS

Members are reminded that the Book Service is planned to handle special orders for titles not included in the list. We will even endeavor to buy titles for members at special discounts from publishers with whom we do not presently do business. Both of these procedures require additional time.

As it becomes clearer to us what members want to purchase through the Book Service, we will endeavor to reach agreements with relevant suppliers and offer appropriate titles in subsequent issues of the Catalogue. Most titles in this Catalogue are now in stock and available for immediate delivery. If the title is not now available, its availability date is given.

MEMBER DISCOUNT

Only members of Scholars Press are entitled to the member price given in parenthesis following the nonmember price.

Books in the Scholars Press Book Catalogue are normally discounted 25% to members. KTAV publications are discounted 20% by special arrangement with the publisher. Some publishers give Scholars Press only a short discount on some titles: these are discounted at 15% or occasionally 10%. Prices are rounded off to the next $.25 on the upward side.

Members may now charge SP Book Service purchases. Please see our credit policy stated above.

We regret that all prices are subject to change without notice. The many publishers with whom we deal change their prices at frequent intervals. Thus, it is impossible to issue a catalogue with prices that are constant.

FOREIGN ORDERS

Scholars Press Book Service must charge postage for shipments outside of North America. This invoice will be included with the shipment. Should any title be placed on back order to be shipped at a later date, SP will pay postage for any subsequent mailings.

I. BIBLE AND RELIGION IN WESTERN ANTIQUITY

1.1 THE BIBLE

THE INSPIRATION OF SCRIPTURE Problems and Proposals

Paul J. Achtemeier

Is the Bible the literal and perfect word of God? Achtemeier shows how recent knowledge of the way the Scriptures were formed raises problems in regard to the traditional understanding of inspiration. He deals with specific contradictions in the Bible, what the Bible says about itself, and how this one key argument affects all other beliefs in Christianity.

Composition and Theology

Robert B. Coote

For ministers and students, Robert Coote describes the stages of growth of the book of Amos, discussing the process of the book's gradual formation. This book also serves as a useful resource for understanding pre-exilic prophecy because of the many similarities between Amos's message and other prophetic traditions which Coote highlights.

Ancient Near Eastern Iconography and the Book of Psalms

Othmar Keel

Polzin attempts a highly original but textually grounded analysis of Deuteronomy, Joshua, and Judges that puts literary (as distinguished from historical) methods at center stage. Concentration on narratological issues-voice, authority, the monological vs the dialogical-introduces fresh and exciting perspectives into the study of the Hebrew Bible as literature.

NARRATIVES OF THE WITCHCRAFT CASES, 1648-1706

George Lincoln Burr, ed

Many of the accounts in this volume deal with one of the most tragic and dramatic episodes of American history- the outbreak of witchcraft hysteria in Salem that culminated in the execution of twenty persons. Here, in court records, in letters of the accusers and the defendants, in documents of justification and of protest, we see the characters and events of that story. ##### Nietzsche's Styles

Jacques Derrida

Barbara Harlow, trans

Apart from Derrida's general appeal at present, Spurs is of special importance. Nietzsche has enjoyed much scrutiny recently, especially from the nouveaux critiques; it is crucial that the views of the leader of that movement be accessible. And Spurs treats in detail Nietzsche's approach to "the woman question." Further, the close reading of Nietzsche's texts, elaborating the deconstructionist methods expounded in Writing and Difference, is particularly helpful in better understanding Derrida's distinctive approach to literature and philosophy. Jose Miranda

"Against a determinist, positivistic, and materialistic interpretation of Marx, spread by Marxist orthodoxy and more especially in Latin America by Althusserian Marxism, Miranda vindicates the spiritual roots of Marx's teaching, his defense of human liberty, his moral concern, and his humanism ...Miranda tried to specify the stream within the Marxism tradition from which Christians can learn, and the stream against which Christians must argue." ## Doubt and Religious Commitment The Role of the Will in Newman's Thought

M. JAMIE FERREIRA. Newman's account of doubt, commitment, and certitude in light of contemporary epistemology is examined. Dr. Ferreira treats the whole problem of the place of doubt in religious commitment—the tension between the kind of adherence necessary for religious devotion and the kind of adherence legitimate for a rational believer—and discusses its implications for the problem of the "will to believe."

Calvin and English Calvinism to 1649

R. T. KENDALL. The author demonstrates that the English "Puritans," whom he calls "experimental predestinarians," were followers of John Calvin's successor in Geneva, Theodore Beza, and not of Calvin himself. Thus Beza, not Calvin, was largely responsible for the doctrine of "English Calvinism."
