Find the Mockers

 Read the three stories. On the line at the bottom of the page, write the names of the four children who mocked.

- Mary hopped out of her big brother's old pickup. She had to slam the door three times before it held. As she walked to the schoolhouse, Ted called, "Hi, Miss Mary Slam-slam-slam. Where did your brother get his nice new truck?"
- Rachel kicked the ball as hard as she could; but it went only a little way. Dan picked it up and threw it fast to first base before Rachel got there.

"I always make an out," she said sadly, as she came back.

"Boo-hoo-hoo," said Jake. He pretended to cry. "Boo-hoo-hoo. I always make an out. Boo-hoo-hoo."

"That's all right, Rachel," said Burt. "Just keep trying. One of these days you will make it to first."
- "Say, girls, who does this look like?" Molly bent way over. Her hands shook. She pretended to hold onto a walker.

"Oh, you look just like that old Mr. Green." Rita laughed.

"Only you need to shake your head, too."

"I don't think that's a bit funny," said Betty. "I think it is wrong to make fun of old people."
