

Writing a Paragraph

When you write a story, indent the first line of each paragraph.

I love to go to school. I am in second grade. We have three girls and nine boys in my class. Our favorite subject is Math.

A Read the paragraphs. Cross out the paragraph that is not indented.

1. Sandi looked at the colorful things that hung in the shop windows. The colors were so pretty.

Sherri heard a scratching on the front door. Quietly she opened the door. There she saw a furry kitten.

B Underline the correct choice.

2. When you get a book at the library, write the title, date and your name on the library card.

3. A librarian, mother repairs books at the library.

indent (ĩn • dĕnt): to start the first line in a paragraph a little to the right of the other lines

paragraph (pĕr • ə • grăf): a group of sentences that tell about one thing

Creative Writing

Thinking

Today you will explore the picture that you will write about in your paragraph.

- C Talk about the picture with your class.
Put a check mark in each box as you write your ideas on other paper.

- What would be a good name for the girl?
- What would be a good name for the dog?
- Why is the girl standing in the corner?
- Why is the dog with her?
- What is on the floor?
- What kind of feelings do you see on her face?
- How will she feel when she can go play again?
- Do you have other ideas you want to write about?

- D Read the list of words.

Write down the words that tell about the picture.

sorry	cry	sad	laugh	naughty
pouting	running	funny	problem	unhappy
obey	bad	shout	loud	trouble
forget	wail	chum	howl	disobedient
