

It was pride
that cost

Chester
his feathers.

Chester lived among the rolling hills of Wisconsin, in a winding valley where breezes whisper through wild pink roses and meadowlarks sing all day, on a little farm called Pleasant Valley Farm.

Pleasant Valley
Farm

— A family pulling together —

Farmer Don
and Missus Dora
lived in the little white house that sat
between two tall
oak trees.