

The Little Boy

Who Changed the World

Ruby M. Birky

Illustrated by Audrey Layman

CHRISTIAN LIGHT
PUBLICATIONS

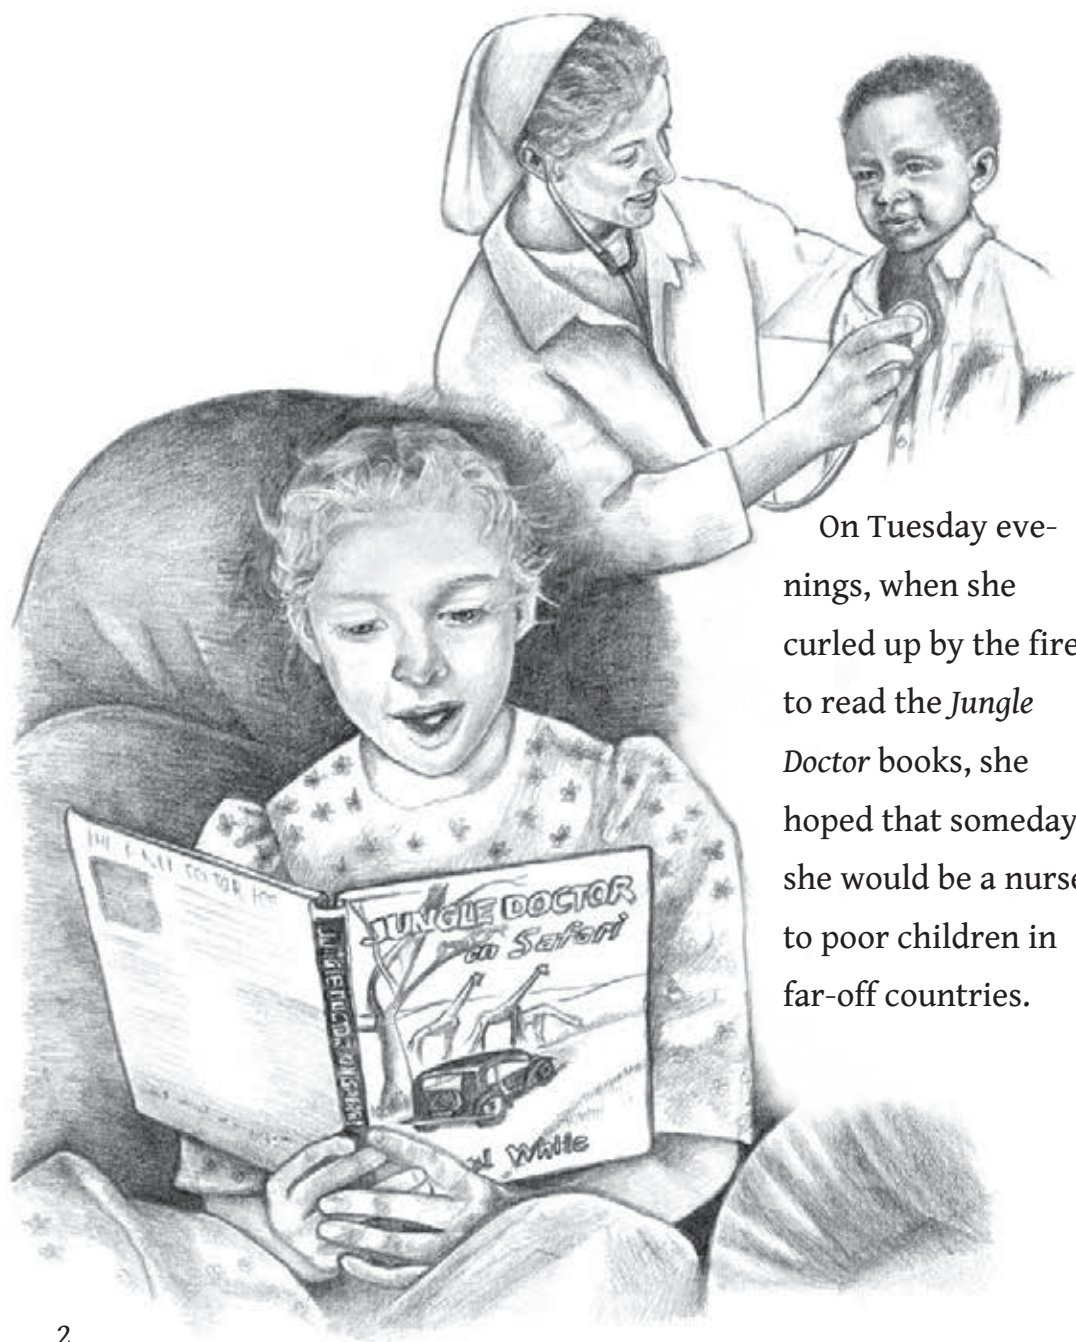

Copyrighted material. May not be reproduced without permission from the publisher.

Many years ago, in the country of Canada, there was a little girl with wild, curly hair who dreamed big dreams.

On Monday mornings, she watched God brush the sky awake with hundreds of living colors, and she imagined that one day she would be an artist.

On Tuesday evenings, when she curled up by the fire to read the Jungle Doctor books, she hoped that someday she would be a nurse to poor children in far-off countries.