

Praying for Others

Christine Diller

An important part of prayer is praying for others. Jesus set an example of this for us in John 17. The whole chapter is a prayer for His disciples. Even now He is in Heaven praying for us. Children can learn to follow His example by praying for parents, siblings, friends, and church leaders.

Families can pray for health and healing for others even in a terminal illness because God can heal anyone. We also need to be clear that God doesn't heal everyone, at least not in the way we ask. Sometimes God sends an illness to help us grow nearer to Him or to be a witness to others. Sometimes He may take someone to Heaven for healing.

We all know someone who is running from the Lord. This might seem a hard subject to have children pray about, but we don't have to tell all the details.

We can simply say, "_____ needs our prayers to help him follow Jesus." When we pray for the lost and it seems there is no answer, we can share these truths with our children:

1. Everyone makes their own choices. God never makes anyone follow Him. He just keeps helping them when we pray for them.
2. Sometimes they are choosing right things because of our prayers, but we can't see this because we aren't around them enough.

3. We must not stop having faith that our prayers make a difference in their lives.

God tells us to pray for the government. We should ask that leaders see what would be God's way and choose the decision God would want. We should pray for their health and safety. God tells us to pray for them so we can serve God peacefully.

Always we need to pray that people will follow Jesus and His Word, make right decisions, and be a witness wherever they are.

"I exhort therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for all men; for kings, and for all that are in authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty. For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth" (1 Timothy 2:1-4).

Christopher and the Move

"Moving shouldn't be allowed," Christopher growls. Everyone in the Fehr family except Christopher is happy about moving. To him, the only exciting part is riding in the moving truck. Moving is hard work, and it doesn't help that big brother Andrew teases Christopher about being lazy.

Christopher misses their old house. He misses Trouble Creek and romping in the woods. Christopher feels sorry for Great-Grandma when she must move too. Will the new place ever feel like home? Will Great-Grandma adjust to living in a nursing home? And how will Christopher overcome his reputation for being work-shy?

More Trouble Than Trouble Creek

Splash! Andrew sucked in his breath as he felt cold water on his back and legs. The water wasn't deep, but it was cold and muddy. He scrambled up the bank, his sopping shoes slipping and skidding. He scowled at his sister. "Megan, this is all your fault!" Andrew and his siblings are having trouble getting along. Daddy and Mom have a solution, but can Andrew learn to be kind?

The Missing Invitation

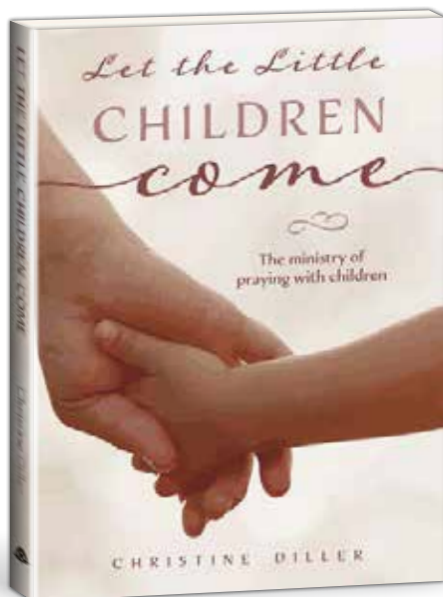

Megan noticed that each of her friends was holding a pink card. "It's an invitation for a special singing practice," Valerie explained. "All the girls are joining in. Isn't it exciting?" "Yes," was all Megan could say. Why hadn't she received an invitation? It was just as she thought: the girls were leaving her out. When a new family moves in with a girl her age, Megan hopes that Monica will be her own special friend. Megan learns that friendship brings the most satisfaction when it is freely shared.

Books for Mom

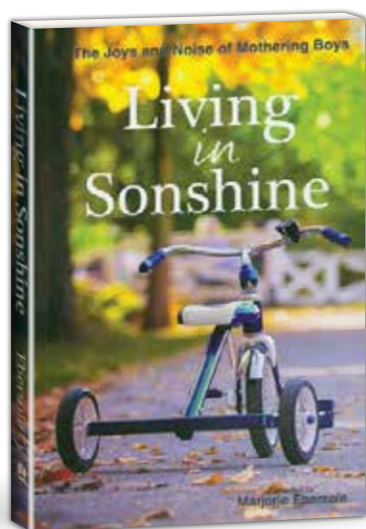

Let the Little Children Come Christine Diller

Moms, are you unsure how to pray with your children? Does the idea of teaching them to pray make you feel inadequate?

Author Christine Diller felt the same way. Though their family prayed together, looking back she realized something was missing. She did not know enough about prayer and was shy about praying with her children. She wishes she would have had the knowledge and courage to pray more with her children when they were young.

Children have simple faith and pray simple prayers. Let the Little Children Come is a simple discussion on prayer from a grandmother's heart: what it is, how to teach children about it, how to pray with your children, and how to increase your own ministry of prayer for your loved ones.

Rejoice in Hope Christine Diller

To have a child die would be a horrifying experience, but an even greater fear would be losing them to spiritual death. The author prayed regularly for her growing children. Then she and her husband found themselves in a situation they had never expected. Devastated, she asked, "Why?" Hadn't she prayed for her children all their lives? What went wrong?

Rejoice in Hope shares what one mother learned about God's care and the power of prayer. It helps mothers find hope in spiritual struggles they may be facing with their grown children.

To her surprise, Ruby did become a teacher. A little boy with sparkling eyes and wiggly ears became one of her students—but also her teacher. He taught Ruby how changing the world really happens. He can teach you too! The Little Boy Who Changed the World is not just a children's story. It is a story with inspiration for all of us. Illustrated with fine pencil drawings on every page.

Every afternoon, old Dolly faithfully led the other cows to the barn for milking. When Farmer Don was out in the fields and saw Dolly leading the herd in from the pasture, he knew that four o'clock milking time had come. He could practically set his watch by Dolly.

Then one winter day, Dolly slipped and fell on the ice. Would she be brave enough to trust Farmer Don and lead the herd home as usual?
