

Pure or Poisonous?

Several decades ago there were stories in the news about people who lived in a residential area of Niagara Falls, New York. The neighborhood, called Love Canal, had been built over a chemical waste dump.

Over the years these poisonous chemicals seeped to the surface. Vegetation withered. Children played in puddles of contaminated water. Residents experienced various health problems.

The sad plight of these families arouses our sympathy, but even worse is when children daily absorb the spiritual poison of a God-ignoring or a God-scorning viewpoint.

It's said that facts are facts whether taught by a believer or an unbeliever. Is that true? Hardly any teacher, writer, or publisher is satisfied with simply stringing facts together. Rather, they want students to assemble these facts into a coherent, cohesive whole and see the overall picture.

Curriculum publishers teach from and teach toward a given viewpoint and understanding of life and its meaning and purpose. Families and churches are richly blessed today with the availability of curriculum from a Christian worldview to help them raise their children without daily exposure to the world's poison.

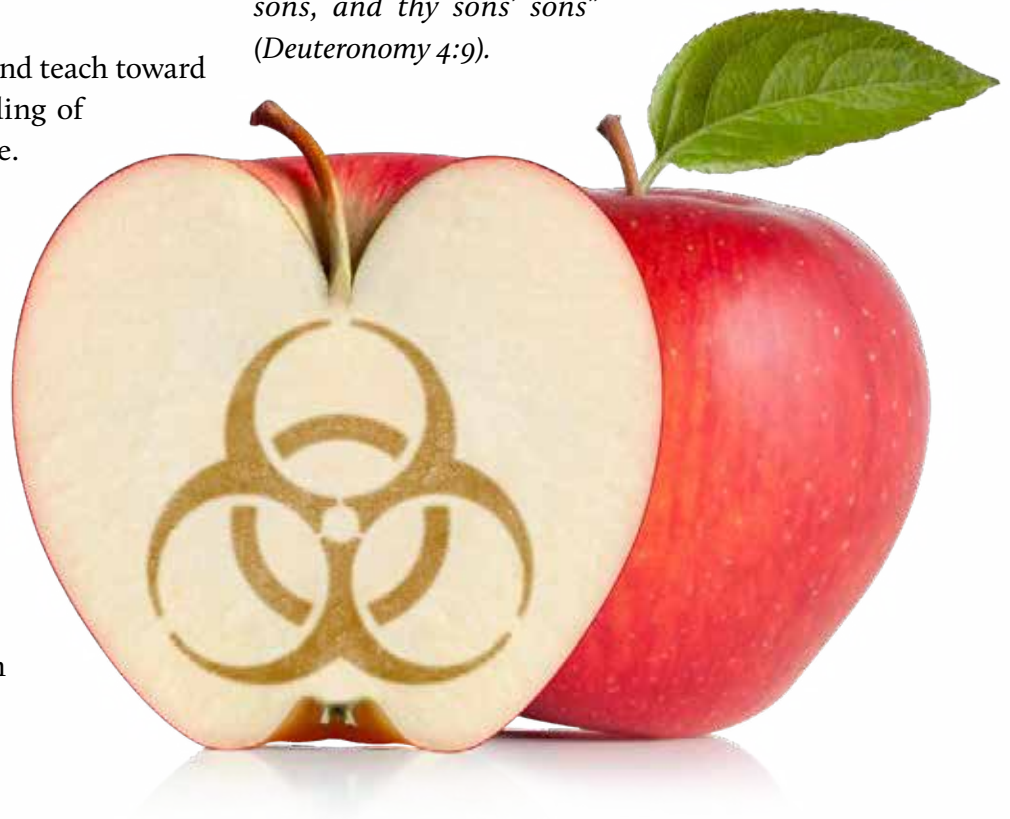

Psalm 1:3 gives us this picture of a godly man: "He shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper."

This person's roots are not drinking in contaminated water. He is not walking in the counsel of the ungodly, standing in the way of sinners, or sitting in the seat of the scornful (v. 1).

Scripture tells us, "The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom" (Proverbs 9:10). The counsel of the ungodly hinders us from even getting to the starting point of wisdom.

Thank God for the freedom and resources we have today to nurture our children with godly education. Blessed are those children who can be like that beautiful, flourishing riverside tree, receiving daily nourishment from a river of life.

"Only take heed to thyself, and keep thy soul diligently, lest thou forget the things which thine eyes have seen, and lest they depart from thy heart all the days of thy life: but teach them thy sons, and thy sons' sons"
(Deuteronomy 4:9).

"This my third year using it and it is perfect. Monthly and weekly views with plenty of places for lists in the back. There is a page with two pockets in the back as well."

"Reasonably priced, convenient size, all the features you could want while still being easy to use."

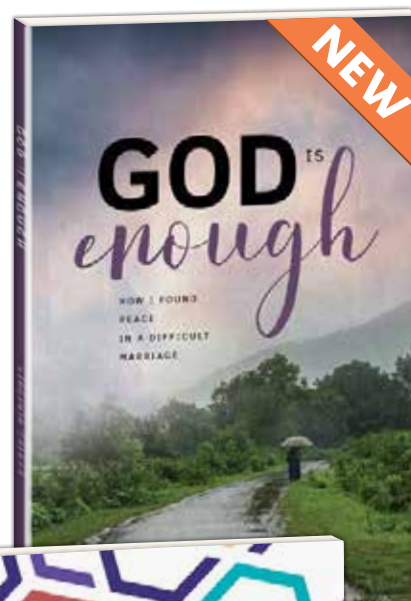

"Over the years, I have thought I needed something different, but I've always come back to the simplicity of this planner. It is beautiful, well-made, simple, and sufficient."

God Is Enough Virginia Crider

Growing up in a Christian home, Virginia Crider never imagined she would marry an unbeliever. But she did. Her return to the Lord plunged her into even greater conflict with her husband. How could she handle his alcohol-fueled taunts? Must she bear with his accusations and lies? What should she do when he demanded that she go against her conscience?

Virginia prayed earnestly and searched for answers in God's Word. Only through God's grace and faithful obedience to His Word would she have any hope of victory. God Is Enough is the true story of how one wife found peace and security, experienced the power of prayer and forgiveness, and sought to love and respect her husband despite the pain he brought her.

A Variety of Tracts

Tracts are short articles you can easily hand to others. They cost 2 cents each and must be ordered in increments of 50. You can read each tract on our website. Visit christianlight.org/tracts.

Why I Cover My Head

Christian women who cover their heads often hear questions from curious onlookers. This tract is a convenient way to answer questions about the head covering in more detail than is possible in a brief conversation.

In addition to explaining the principles found in 1 Corinthians 11:1-16, the tract emphasizes that God's ways are always best. Following God's design for men and women as revealed in the Bible does not demean women but brings peace and blessing.

Cornmeal Samaritan

Kathryn Mast

Snug and warm inside the cabin, Esther watched the snow pile as high as the window. She thought of the six old Indians who lived in a wigwam two miles away. Unable to hunt in the snowstorm, would they survive?

Dad was worried about the Indians too. Together they filled a sack with cornmeal, and Dad swung it over his shoulder. Esther watched as he plowed through the deep snow, trying to be a Good Samaritan. Based on an actual happening in 1824 near Berlin, Ohio, Cornmeal Samaritan shows the blessing of loving those who are different from us.
