

As the wheels of time spin the web of reality, our soul longs for depth and love. We feel the energy of Source energy pulsing through our body, which brings memories of sojourns across the multiverse.

We are but stardust illuminating the potentials of magic, mystery and the Divine. We are masters of realities, weaving our consciousness with each breath. Creating within the hologram of human perceptions and embracing our truth for future generations to follow.

Such is the life of a master. Bridging the worlds of illusion to form the new reality, the new earth. We are the Light. We are the way. We are Divine.
