Letter is being referred to

 Building 4-7-43
 San Francisco, CA 94110

Dear Ron:

This letter is written in regard to the development of an AIDS Faculty within the Department of Family and Community Medicine as part of the Area AIDS Program Center through HRSA. As you know, I am on record as a very strong proponent of incorporating HIV care as a routine part of primary care, both in Internal Medicine and Family Practice. To that end, the further education of primary practitioners about AIDS to enhance comfort with issues of sex, drugs, death, and some of the more readily-recognized HIV-related complications and infections is absolutely imperative. I fully support the contribution of knowledgeable family practitioners in furthering such education.

As you are well aware, the AIDS Activities Division and its multiple faculty as well as the Speakers' Bureau for the AIDS Foundation have conducted innumerable programs, seminars, symposia, and training events on a wide variety of AIDS-related topics in San Francisco and other Bay Area cities. New recruits to this effort, both as speakers and instructors, are always needed. The challenge will be to incorporate training unique to Family Practice that does not call upon the existing "Aids experts" to provide the lectures but rather incorporates new faculty and systems to relieve and to complement the already existing educational efforts. As physicians, we are all collaborators in the efforts to teach and learn. The AIDS Clinic at San Francisco General Hospital will be admirably cared for many, many sick patients with AIDS but its teaching limitations in staffing and patient volume would be very well served as well infected persons if there were other care givers trained and accepting of HIV patients in the immediate area and not only in the vicinity.

This is a daunting challenge. You have an ongoing good will collegial support and collaboration in meeting this challenge.

Sincerely,

Constance R. Wolfy, M.D.

Dear Ron:

This letter is written in regard to the development of a Family Practice team for the Department of Family and Community Medicine, University of California AIDS Education Center through HRSA. As you know, I am amply on record as a very strong proponent of incorporating HIV care as a routine part of primary care, both in Internal Medicine and Family Practice. To that end, the further education of primary practitioners about AIDS to enhance comfort with issues of sex, drugs, death, and some of the more readily managed HIV-related complications and infections is absolutely imperative. As you are well aware, the AIDS Activities Division and its multiple faculty as well as the Speakers' Bureau for the AIDS Foundation have conducted innumerable programs, seminars, symposiums, and teaching events on a wide variety of AIDS-related topics in San Francisco and other Bay Area cities. New recruits to this effort, both as speakers and listeners, are always needed. The challenge will be to incorporate training unique to Family Practice that does not call upon the existing "Aids experts" to provide the lectures but rather incorporates new faculty and systems to believe and to complement the already existing educational efforts. As physicians, we are all collaborators in the efforts to teach and learn. The AIDS Clinic at San Francisco General Hospital, which has admirably cared for many, many sick patients with AIDS but is reaching limitations in staffing and patient waits, would be very well served as would infected patients if there were other care givers trained and accepting of HIV patients in the immediate area and peripheral vicinities.

This is an impossible challenge. You have my ongoing good will, collegial support and collaboration in meeting this challenge.

Dear Andre:

You definitely shouldn't have done it,
but since you did, please know how much I am touched by the thought of the gift as well as the gift itself. The sweatshirt and the top both fit absolutely perfectly; they are MY colors and my daughter Susan hankers after them though she doesn't quite fill them out yet.

Thank you!

RE: Lisa Gooze, M.D.

Dear Mr. Leung:

Dr. Lisa Gooze is an outstanding internist who has completed her first year Clinical Infectious Disease Fellowship training and is interested in the possibility of working at your facility on a part-time basis. Dr. Gooze is a professional, warm, and mature clinician with a very good general fund of medical knowledge and good judgment skills who would do a superb job in clinically assessing urgently ill patients with typical ambulatory-type problems and she would provide thorough, conscientious, and well-thought out treatment plans. She is considerate to patients and staff, and she has good judgment and very high standards. I am, of course, very familiar with the workings of urgent care facilities and feel I can, with confidence, recommend Dr. Gooze to you as a member of the part-time staff.

If there is anything further I can provide, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Candy, here are the copies of two of my snapshots for you and Hank. The "KPIX makes like a sloth" picture is a bit dark, but it was photographing zero energy after all.

Dear Terry:

This is just a note to tell you that I have spoken with Barbara Woodruff, our Chief Administrator, and I have passed your invoice on to her. It will be processed through the appropriate channels, but there is always some delay in the University paperwork. If there proves to be a problem, please let me know and if I identify any further problems, I will contact you. I really would welcome the opportunity to further discuss the response to the program in person. As a time-saving measure, I gave you some bottom-line feedback which focused more on the negative than I might usually do as a means of cutting telephone corners. I would be very, very happy to have a direct conversation and discuss the issues in a more balanced manner.

Best wishes.

Dear Dr. Soffer:

I am returning the manuscript that was sent to me for review. Regrettably, I am unable to review the manuscript inasmuch as I am about to embark on an extended trip and would therefore not be able to review the manuscript within the desired three week interval. In addition, I may not be the appropriate reviewer as I am extremely familiar with the investigators and the work and have a strong predisposition to recommend the article for acceptance. I would thus want to exercise particular care in order that my review would be objective and circumspect. I cannot complete the task in the day remaining before I leave in addition to other pre-existing obligations now on my desk.

I am happy to review articles at times when there are not such other intrusions on my time and I appreciate your confidence in forwarding the article to me.

Dear Doctor Wofsy:

I should greatly appreciate receiving your opinion of the enclosed communication. If it has potential merit, perhaps you would note a few suggestions for revision which would strengthen its message. If the manuscript should be rejected, I would be grateful for critical comments which will be sent to the author, without identifying the consultant, of course. Do not include your conclusions regarding acceptability in the Reviewer's Comments. A self-addressed reply envelope is enclosed for your convenience.

You may prefer to return the paper to my office if the subject is not in your sphere of interest or if it is not convenient for you to prepare a review at this time. If you choose to study the report, may I impose upon you to complete your analysis within 21 days?

I should be grateful if you would mail to my office the enclosed postcard since this will signify your receipt of contents.

Your consultative advice is deeply appreciated.

Dear Dr. Wofsy:

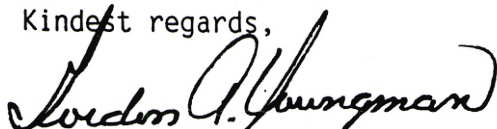

I have been reviewing the abstract publication from the Fourth International Conference on AIDS held recently in Stockholm Sweden.

I would be very interested in receiving a copy of your full presentation/paper that appeared in the abstract publication under the following title:
AIDS CARE: MEETING THE HEALTH CARE NEEDS OF THE HIV INFECTED

I am very involved in various aspects of AIDS education , counselling , consulting and costs (direct and indirect) of this disease and feel that your presentation/paper would be of tremendous benefit.

Thanking you in advance for your most generous co-operation.

Kindest regards,

Gordon A. Youngman,
President and Consultant.
