HOME ADVISOR OFFERS "PLAN YOUR HOME FOR LIVING" SHORTCOURSE

What is a livable home? Georgia Lee Wren, Home Advisor⁵ of the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of California gives this answer. A livable home should be, first of all, a background for the family. It reflects the combined interest and activities of all who live in it. A livable home should give a feeling of beauty and a sense of pride to each family member.

Furnishing a home is more than decorating. Its purpose is to add comfort and beauty and to increase the convenience and order of your home. If you are interested in achieving these goals for your family living, you will want to attend the shortcourses on "Plan Your Home For Living." This course is free to the public and will be offered in both morning and evening classes.

Miss Grace Kampen, Extension Home Furnishing Specialist for the University of California Agricultural Extension Service will conduct the classes. Miss Kampen is the originator of this practical and unique method of teaching Home Furnishing. She helps you to create a "feeling" in your home--a feeling or atmosphere that is pleasing to the family.

The schedule of classes is as follows:

October 22 - Design For Living
October 24 - Pattern or Ornamentation
October 29 - Color As An Element of Design
October 31 - Choosing a Color Plan

All morning classes will be from 9:30 to 11:30 and evening classes from 7:30 to 9:30 at the Farm & Home Advisors Office, 1720 S. Maple, Fresno.

Registrations are being taken for attending. Call the Farm & Home Advisors Office, 233-2283 giving your name, address, and whether a morning or evening session will be attended. Attendance at the "Plan Your Home For Living" shortcourse is a prerequisite for participation in the "Advanced Home Furnishing" shortcourse which will be offered in December.
