Dear Mr. Wagner:

I received the "Darwin" and I think it is splendid.

Thank you for inviting me to the library. My visit and the luncheon were enjoyed tremendously.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Fraiberg:

I am writing to you on behalf of the Ann Arbor Public Library to confirm the arrangements for the upcoming "Booked for Lunch" program scheduled for December 12.

The program is scheduled to begin at 12:10 p.m. and usually concludes about 12:50, with some additional time allowed for questions from the audience. After the program we would like to invite you and a guest of your choice to join us for lunch at the Pretzel Bell restaurant. Also, the Friends of the Library, sponsors of the program, provide funds for the purchase of a book of your choice as a small token of thanks for your participation. If there is a particular book which interests you, please let me know so that we can make arrangements to acquire it for you.

If you plan to drive to the library, please inform me by Monday so that we can make arrangements to reserve a parking place for you behind our building. It would also be helpful if you could provide me with some background information and personal data which might assist us in preparing a suitable introduction.

In addition I should mention that your remarks will be taped by Radio Station WUOM for possible broadcast at a later date.

My colleagues and I are looking forward to meeting you and hearing your presentation. We extend our sincere thanks for taking time from your busy schedule to participate in this program. If you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to contact me either at the library (994-2352) or at home [REDACTED]

Sincerely yours,

Dietmar Wagner

Dear Mr. Wagner:

I just returned from vacation and have read your letter.

Of course I would be most pleased to discuss my book in the library series. The only question would be finding a suitable date. I would suggest December 12, 1978 as a tentative date. I mention this because there is some possibility that I will need to be in San Francisco either in December or January but those dates will not be settled until the end of October. Can we get in touch with each other again at that point?

Sincerely yours,

Selma Fraiberg

Dear Dr. Fraiberg:

As you may know, the Ann Arbor Public Library, in cooperation with the Friends of the Library, sponsors an annual series of book talks under the collective title "Booked for Lunch." These programs, normally scheduled for the second Tuesday of each month from October through May, feature knowledgeable speakers who discuss books and topics of current interest to the community.

We are writing to you in the hope that you might consider participating in one of these programs, perhaps to speak about your recent book Every Child's Birthright. We believe it is a book which addresses an issue of considerable importance to many library users and the community as a whole. We would be very pleased and honored if you could find the time in your busy schedule to participate in the series.

At this point in time, the tentative schedule for the upcoming series is still flexible enough so that you would be able to select one of several possible dates (~~October 10, November 14, December 12,~~ 1978; January 9, February 13, March 13, 1979). The programs usually begin about 12:10 P.M. and conclude around 1:00 P.M. The usual format is to have the speaker deliver a short talk (30-40 minutes) followed by a question-and-answer session. ?

Unfortunately, we are unable to offer an honorarium, except in the form of a book of your choice contributed by the Friends. In addition we invite you and a guest of your choice to join us for luncheon immediately following the program.

Should you be interested in participating in our program we would appreciate hearing from you in the near future. If you have any questions please feel free to contact me at the library (994-2352) or at home [REDACTED].

Whatever your decision, we thank you for taking the time to consider our invitation.

Sincerely yours,
