Dear Dr. Fraiberg:

Recently I began discussing continuing education for social workers with an informal group from the Mental Health Center of St. Joseph County and soon we shall be establishing an IUSB advisory committee on social work in continuing education. In the meantime, I am gathering information on some outstanding resource persons, such as yourself, who might conduct a one-day seminar or workshop.

With this in mind, we would like to know if you have a one-day program on some aspect of social work (especially in the area of early childhood development and/or working with children) which you think would be particularly useful. If you do and would be interested in our considering you for a one-day program, would you please send your proposal for one-day programs along with your curriculum vitae, and professional fee.

If you have questions, please contact me.

With best wishes.

Dear Dr. Fraiberg,

This letter is a follow up to our phone conversation May 4. The Ohio Association for the Education of Young Children's Annual Conference will be held in Cleveland on March 16 and 17, 1979. There will be around 700 early childhood educators: nursery school and day care personnel, university people from early childhood and home economic departments from every part of the state, pediatricians, nurses, social workers, students from area colleges, and parents of young children.

In the past two years in Cleveland, we have heard Lillian Katz, Burton White, and Marshall Klaus. We feel that you are the person to take us to the next step in our understanding of the best ways to help parents raise loving, human children. We are asking many questions and feel you are THE person to help us in our search for answers. (I have three copies of your new book and have loaned them out all over town!)

Ideally, we would like you to be our keynote speaker on Friday evening, March 16. However, if there is some other time when you could come (Saturday or the weekend before, March 9 or 10) let us know; for you we would be flexible.

How I hope we can work something out. Call me at [REDACTED] weekday mornings or [REDACTED] afternoons, or drop me a line. I will look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Dear Selma:

I'm sorry to hear you won't be able to join us at the Fourth International Seminar this year. However, you seemed to indicate in your letter that perhaps one of your staff members could join us. I think that would be great! We would very much like to have some input from you and this would be a great help.

In case you need to explain our group to your alternate, I'll put it briefly. The Seminar participants are a small group of people from the United States and Canada who are all doing significant work with preschool blind children and their parents. It has been hosted for four years now by Project Outreach and moderated by Dr. Lowenfeld and Pauline Moor. We have met yearly to promote services (nation-wide and in Canada) for young blind children, share expertise, and stimulate creative educational approaches. The Seminar group of 1977 initiated the North American Conference and requested the American Foundation for the Blind to sponsor it. Some of the other outcomes of the Seminar have been: the use of the Newspatch for communication, a statement of advocacy for the White House Conference, and a compilation of advocated materials. This year we are hoping that Dr. Ed Martin will join us for a portion of our time together.

The participants have always found it a worthwhile experience and we always strive to have at least one significant step forward taken as a result of our meeting together.

I look forward to hearing that one of your staff can join us. We hope to send out an agenda of the meeting by the end of the week.

Dear Seminar Participants:

We have been in touch with many of you by phone and letter and anticipation is growing for the Fourth International Seminar for Preschool Visually Impaired. Thank you for your prompt letters of reply. We expect a sizeable group of persons ready to focus on the human concerns of providing services for preschool blind children.

As announced earlier, Pauline Moor and Berthold Lowenfeld will serve as our consultants for the entire Seminar. We have invited Dr. Ed Martin to attend the opening session. If he attends, he will get the preschool blind picture in a nutshell. If not, we will send him a copy of the overview.

The program is now finalized allowing us to fill you in on the details of our two-day Seminar. The Fourth International Seminar will be held in the Leamington Hotel, Minneapolis, Minnesota, in the Washington Rooms A & B. We will begin at 2:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 25, for a two-hour session which will offer a concise overview of the "State of the Art" of various service areas for preschool visually impaired. (See printed agenda.) After a break for supper, we will reconvene Thursday evening to hear Kay Ferrell's paper on orientation for preschool. Possibly, Dr. Leslie Kay will join us for an informal discussion on sonic devices.

Friday, we have a full day planned from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. with lunch served in the room. First, we will divide into Task Forces to discuss our concerns and possible solutions in the areas described on Thursday. After lunch we will pool our information and decide upon any appropriate action our group may care to take.

Before closing, we will make plans for the Fifth International Seminar. We look forward to our meeting and sharing.

Sincerely,

Sherry

Dear Selma:

Yes, we are making plans for the Fourth International Seminar to be held immediately following the North American Conference in Minnesota! To facilitate your attendance, perhaps you should make arrangements with your agency to extend your attendance to include Thursday and Friday, May 25 & 26, 1978.

In accordance with the group decision of last year, the seminar will consist of no more than 35 persons who I, as convener, will invite. However, all of the past participants, as well as interested others will have access to copies of any of the proceedings.

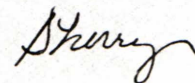

I have received suggestions from many of you of persons you feel should be invited. We have also had a number of requests to attend. It has been a difficult task for myself and my staff to decide who to invite.

I am pleased to be able to tell you that you were selected to be invited this year. You will receive a tentative agenda within two weeks. Please let me know if you plan to attend. If you cannot, please give us time to select an alternate to take your place.

Dr. Lowenfeld and Pauline Moor will be chairing the seminar again this year. The seminar focus will be "The Human Concerns: Providing Services for Preschool Visually Handicapped Children and Their Parents."

We'll be in touch with you soon. If you have any questions, please call or write.

Dear Mrs. Fraiberg:

I recently spoke with Rae Weil, former executive director of the Cleveland Jewish Family Service Association, and she suggested I write to you. I am with JFSA as Director of Group Services, and we are very interested in the possibility of having you come to Cleveland, perhaps in the fall, to speak on a subject related to your new book, Every Child's Birthright: In Defense of Mothering. I understand from Rae that you will be in Israel until April, but I wanted to contact you about this possibility.

We had in mind a large public meeting open to the general community to be held either in mid to late September 1978, or any time during November 1978. I know that Rae had spoken with you earlier in the year about the possibility of your coming to Cleveland, and we are now attempting to explore this more definitively.

Last year we had Dr. Berry T. Brazelton as a speaker for a large community meeting which was offered to the public free of charge. Dr. Brazelton was coming to University Hospitals to speak, and we were able to plan our meeting to coincide with his other Cleveland commitments. Nine hundred people attended that meeting.

Could you let me know about your interest and availability for such a lecture? Could you also tell me what your fee would be? I would appreciate hearing from you if possible before you return in April, however, if I do not hear from you, I will wait to receive word from you after you return to the States.

I have just begun to read your book and think it is an extremely timely, important contribution. I know that a talk on this subject would be a very valuable public service which JFSA would very much like to offer. I will look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Jona:

Have just arrived back in Ann Arbor, full of the loveliest memories of our visit to Jerusalem, our time with you and Ruth, and the great pleasure of making new friends at the School of Social Work. It was an extraordinary time for us and I bring home hosts of new ideas which I will begin to work on in the months to come.

Our day of departure was Wednesday and we heard the news of the crossing of the Lebanon border as we drove to the airport. It was a wrenching experience. Our impulse was to go back to Jerusalem and be with our friends. But inevitably, the road took us to the airport and to London, where we followed the news feverishly and, of course, in both London and Ann Arbor, we are getting only distorted news.

You know how deeply moved I was by your question regarding my interest in the Freud Chair, but as you have already guessed, there are many reasons which argue against it. However, I shall never forget that you put the question to me!

Our Friday morning discussion about a possible future collaboration is a most attractive one to me. Let's give it much thought and it may be that at the time you visit us in Ann Arbor we can develop our ideas. I would love to have you visit our Program and I think our staff would be delighted if you could present a paper to us, one of your own choosing. Will you let me know about this?

I will very shortly be sending on to you papers and a copy of one of my new books which may interest you. It may take weeks and weeks before they arrive (nothing I have sent from Israel in package form has arrived yet!).

A warm embrace to you and Ruthie and to the children who do not know me.

To: Participants, Symposium on Epidemiology and Prevention
From: Kenneth S. Robson, M.D.
Re: Publication

As all of you may remember I mentioned to you in my first communication about the symposium that publication of its content might be possible. I wanted you to know that since its completion two possibilities have opened up. One of these is with McGraw Hill Book Company and another through the Journal of the American Academy of Child Psychiatry where the presentations might be published together as a special section. I believe that this would be a constructive effort to make but must be certain that each of you gives permission for your presentation to be published. I would appreciate your signing below and returning this slip to me at your earliest convenience. Should you have reservations about proceeding with publication or be under time pressure to publish elsewhere let's discuss that in more detail. I will keep you fully informed of any definite plans regarding the publication of this material.

Feedback has been very positive and I would like to thank you again for participating in what seems to have been a most successful day.

I give full permission to Kenneth S. Robson, M.D. to proceed with the publication of the paper which I presented at the symposium on Epidemiology and Prevention in Child Psychiatry, Boston, Massachusetts, November 3, 1978

Dear Ms. Fraiberg, Ms. Adelson, and Ms. Shapiro,

I have long felt that "Ghosts in the Nursery" Journal of Child Psychiatry, Summer, 1975, (and the work described therein) is the most readable and poignant of clinical articles. In addition, I recently had the opportunity to hear Ms. Fraiberg speak at the Tufts Symposium, and was very much engaged by the further therapeutic work with failure-to-thrive infants.

We here in the Children's Services of the Newport County Community Mental Health Center are considering offering a symposium in the area of Intergenerational Conflict and Psychotherapy. I am writing to request your permission to dramatize some of these issues, drawing on "Ghosts in the Nursery." With the help of a community theater group, I would like to write a small play based on your article, and use the dramatization as a teaching tool. In the past, we have successfully used drama in such a way, for example, in illustrating some of the tasks of family development, to a group of health care providers.

Before granting permission, please feel free to write with any questions, etc..

Dear Dr. Fraiberg:

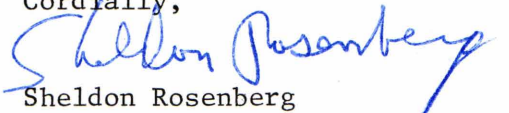

On behalf of our recently formed Institute for the Study of Developmental Disabilities (ISDD), I would like to extend to you a warm invitation to address our colloquium group.

The ISDD is made up mainly of individuals (staff and graduate students) associated with the Illinois Institute for Developmental Disabilities, the Department of Psychology, or the Department of Biological Sciences of the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle who have come together to develop research, intervention and training programs in the various areas of developmental disabilities.

The colloquium meets on Fridays at 3:00 P.M. throughout the academic year and we have a good many dates free from January 5 to June 1, 1979, for guest speakers. Should it be possible for you to accept our invitation, I would be grateful if (in addition to writing me) you could call me collect at 312-996-6643 so that we can decide on a suitable date. Of course, there would be an honorarium of $100.00, and we would reimburse you for such expenses as coach air fare, room and board.

I look forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience and hope very much that your response will be positive.

Cordially,

Sheldon Rosenberg

Dear Colleague:

The speaker at our November meeting will be Professor Phyllis Ocker, the University of Michigan's new Women's Athletic Director. This should be particularly interesting in light of Athletic Director Dan Canham's widely publicized view of Title IX and the athletic program. (See Ann Arbor News, October 9 and October 16). It is important for us to support equal opportunities for women athletes -- so come, and bring a friend!

A business item to think about: what will be our input in the appointment of a new Affirmative Action Director?

Don't forget that the December meeting will feature Dean Joan Stark of the School of Education.

Dear Dr. Fraiberg,

Last spring, our entire special education faculty was surveyed to determine whom they'd like to invite to Wheelock for a day, as a consultant. Your name was mentioned most often, but when I called your secretary, she explained that you were already booked. Since that time, our graduate program, which prepares teachers of preschool children with moderate to severe special needs, has been re-funded for three years by the Bureau of Education for the Handicapped. In the spring, we would like to plan a day that would involve you in a luncheon and discussion with the undergraduate and graduate special education faculty, (about 15 people) followed by a lecture to our student body, faculty, and cooperating personnel (perhaps 100 people).

Our faculty would welcome an opportunity to exchange ideas with you about the needs of young, handicapped children and their families. We would like to learn about the activities of your Child Development Project and your views of future directions vis-a-vis services for this population. Given that Wheelock trains not only early childhood teachers and consultants, but also administrators, parents, day care providers, museum and hospital staff, we would like you to help us think through emerging needs in the varied early childhood professions. We'd like your presentation to the all-college group to focus on your recent work with blind children.

Through our BEH grant, we can pay you a $100 consultation fee, plus your travel and meal expenses for the day. Your day at Wheelock would probably begin around 12 and end around 5:30. Early May is the time period when we would most like you to come.

Longwood Faculty Offices — Riverway and Pilgrim Road
35 Pilgrim Road, Boston, Massachusetts 02215, (617) 734-5200

I hope very much that you will be able to accept this invitation. So many Wheelock students, alumni, and faculty know and admire your work.

Sincerely,

Stef. Rubin

Dear Miki:

Your letter and your new paper have just arrived. I look forward to reading it.

I was interested in your visit to centers in New York. In the main, I have been depressed too by what I have seen in our country. And the model programs which are so often cited, are few and very costly.

You will be interested to know that my description of your Schwartz program has received a great deal of attention among colleagues. I am gradually getting a bit better as far as my disc problem is concerned but it has been a nuisance, especially since I can't type.

My warmest regards.

Dear Selma,

So nice to receive your note, although I was very sorry to hear about the disc problem from which you suffered. I know from a friend how unpleasant this could be.

I regret we could not meet but hopefully, when you feel better you might come back to Israel.

The New York visit was very pleasant and I even had a chance to spend a very relaxed weekend on a farm (near Camp David) in Maryland.

I visited a couple of centers in New York and got very depressed. We all have such similar problems although the "setting" and socio-cultural milieu is so different. I did not get a chance to visit Don Stern.

People around me are reading your book now; I hope to be able to hold a seminar with our staff to discuss it.

I am sending under separate cover a paper which was finished recently concerning our program. You may note among others that our main financial support is coming these days from J.D.C. (Joint Distribution Committee) and I would appreciate it very much if and when you mention our program in any formal way this will be mentioned. Also, one of my colleagues read your report and called my attention to the point that our training program does extend to infants, yet, so far, the D.C. programs in Community Centers do not. Community Centers, which employ over 50% of our graduates, do serve infants in a form of supervised (and trained) Home Day Care.

I am finishing these days writing my final report on my mother & infant study and will take the liberty to send you a copy. Your comment, of course, will be greatly appreciated.

I wish you a speedy recovery and Happy New Year to you and Louis. I believe that this week when we wish ourselves and our friends a year that will bring peace - it may even come true.

Warm regards,

Hiki

Interesting, too, that you too have seen increasing numbers of "non-attachment". The clinicians and the day care workers and mothers have been among my most supportive correspondents in response to this book.

Dear Dr. Fraiberg,

This letter is in response to a Ms. magazine review of your book, "Every Child's Birthright: In Defense of Mothering".

I too have seen increasing numbers of "non-attachment", (Have a nice day!), people in the last ten years. They are frightening because they care so little. I think they will probably have few children and disappear as a sociological phenomena.

I disagree that these noodles (my husband, Jean Rosenbaum, M.D. coined this phrase for them) are homoclitcs, a term introduced by R. Glinker* who states that they are "persons who are unimaginative and uninterestingly average". I think these homoclitcs are the result of many years of overprotective, over-materialistic, over-TV viewed childhoods with mothers present, but emotionally absent. Since the analytic premise is that childhood frustration promotes adult maturity (caring, involvement, rich character traits, opinions, love, hate) this generation of noodles missed their frustration quotient and became the fearful vacuum soulless folks who "go with the flow" no matter what the flow might be.

Sincerely,

Veryl Rosenbaum

I cannot guess whether you will have time to read this, but if you should find time, I think you will find the Israeli system of well-baby stations and the delivery of health and mental health services within this system a model which could well be examined for its applications to our own problems in the delivery of pediatric care.

I have been unable to reach you by phone and my eagerness to contact you prompted this note. This year our agency will be celebrating sixty years of service to children and their families in this community. Although Dallas is known as a metropolitan area, the human delivery systems, particularly for children, are not as well developed perhaps as in other parts of the country. We would therefore like to offer the community, on this special occasion, someone of your professional stature who can both teach and inspire. As a child psychiatrist with whom we work noted, "I'd walk a mile to hear Selma Fraiberg."

This is a brief note, just before leaving on vacation.

With regard to Dan Stern, yes, he is in New York and my secretary will check on his current address. You might want to visit Barry Brazelton and his team at Harvard and see some of their video tapes on mother-infant interaction.

By the way, I think your visit to New York will coincide with the International Congress in Child Psychiatry, which will be held in Melbourne Australia.

I, myself, am not going but nearly everyone else I know will be.

Will you send me your address in New York so that if there is any chance we can get together I might work out something? I don't yet know whether Louie and I will be in Ann Arbor during the last two weeks in August, but it would be delightful if you could visit us if possible.

Dear Selma,

I was very glad to receive your letter. It is very encouraging these days to come across such genuine warm feelings about Israel, as expressed in your letter.

I have not read the part of the report concerning the well-baby clinic, as I was given only those pages concerning our program and I did not feel it was appropriate, therefore, to ask to see the rest. I would, however, like it very much, if when your report is finished and presumably duplicated, you could send us a copy.

Alan is now in New York, finishing a film and doing some more work on his book.

I plan to be in New York during the last 2 weeks of August. I was asked to present a paper and lead a discussion on Issues and Dilemmas in the Training of 'Manpower' for Early Childhood Programs at the NAEYC conference. New York is no great attraction in August but I felt it is important enough for me to go. Hopefully I will be able to meet and set up contacts with other professionals involved in training, and possibly also meet people engaged in research into mother-infant interaction. I am working now on the analysis of 'dialogues' during breast feeding which is very interesting. Do you know whether or not Daniel Stern (whom I know only from his papers and publications) is in New York and "accessible"? Is there anyone - anyplace - you would recommend I visit? Your advice is greatly appreciated.

Please give my warm regards to Louis. I hope it won't be long before we see you again with us here!

Dear Professor Fraiberg:

I am writing again regarding our Visiting Lecturer Program. I hope that the time pressures you mentioned in your previous letter have eased enough to allow you to join us. By way of reminder, the Department of Psychiatry at Sinai Hospital of Detroit annually invites outstanding authorities in their respective fields to participate in its program of Visiting Lecturers. We are pleased to extend our invitation to you to serve as Visiting Lecturer on Monday, March 26, 1979.

The program would begin at 8:00 p.m. on Monday evening when you would address the attending staff of our department and outside guests. The topic would be one of your choice.

The honorarium is $200.

An affirmative reply at your earliest convenience would be welcomed and appreciated.

Sincerely,

Norman Rosenzweig, M.D.

Dear Miki:

It was so good to hear from you. And I am so grateful for your corrections which I have now incorporated into a revised text. Did you also have a chance to read that section of the report which concerns the well-baby clinic?

Oh, how much I wish that I had had a movie camera with me on the day that we watched the children together at the day care center. But now I shall be very interested, after I have my corrected draft completed, to see what my colleagues think and I suspect they will be full of admiration for the work that you are doing in professional training.

How much I miss you and all of my friends in Israel. I think of you many times a day. And, last week-end as Louis and I began sorting our Israel slides, everything came back with such vividness that we felt a sudden urge to catch the next plane to Israel. Believe me, we will not resist the urge too long.

With warm regards from Louis and me.

Dear Selma,

I enjoyed very much ^{reading} the part of your report which was shared with me.

I made several comments or correction which I hope will be useful. Your visit left many ripples behind and we are all still discussing -thoughts and idea you provoked.

I do hope to meet with you again in the future, and we all hope you can come and stay with us longer.

Best regards

Dear Doctor Relick:

I am in receipt of a note to Mrs. Fraiberg dated December 13th re: a meeting in September, 1978.

Mrs. Fraiberg is on sabbatical and is not expected back until April 1st. I do not have anything on her calendar for September re: a meeting, could you please let me have more information about this meeting?

Sincerely,

Adele Wilson, secretary

Dear Dr.

I am writing to confirm your participation in our conference on Maternal-Infant Bonding and Attachment. You will recall that my associate, Dr. Rabbani, spoke to you about this at the recent meetings in Cleveland and you expressed a willingness to participate. Unfortunately we have had to change the dates of the conference to Tuesday and Wednesday, September 12-13, 1978. Please advise me if this will be convenient for you.

As you are aware, Michigan has not had a conference of this type and one is sorely needed. Thank you again for your cooperation.

Sincerely
We Relish
