Managing a service
learning program can be challenging.

1

Service learning progress should be measurable.

But how are volunteering hours tracked?

2

Students should learn from their volunteering through reflection.

But how do they reflect on their experiences?

3

Students need to care about the places they volunteer.

But how do they find such places?

Seholo makes service learning simple.

Seholo automatically tracks

volunteering hours, helps students reflect upon their experiences, and allows students to explore new and relevant service learning opportunities.

How does Seholo
help your school?

1 Save time.

Seholo dramatically reduces the amount of time school administrators spend managing a service learning program.

Less time spent managing a service learning program means more time directly engaging with students.

2 Save paper.

Seholo completely eliminates the need for printing out paper forms and student records.

Less Time + Less Paper = Lower Costs

3 Increase volunteering.

Seholo helps students find volunteer opportunities and makes it easy to track hours, so students volunteer more.

The more students volunteer the more they learn and grow while helping your community.
