Leroy Samse, born September 13, 1883, was a high school track and field athlete participating in pole vault and high jump; however, he also long jumped and ran the 100 yard dash and 120 yard hurdles. After graduating high school, Samse entered Indiana University, where he set a collegiate high jump record. He qualified for the 1904 Olympic team, where he beat Chicago Athletic Association teammate, Louis Wilkins, in a jump off to win the silver medal. Samse's pole vault career best occurred June 2, 1906, at the Western Conference (which later became the Big Ten Conference) meet at Northwestern University, where he tied Frenchman, Fernand Gonder's world record of 12' 3.25", and later with a height of 12' 4.845", won a jump off with a NY Athletic Club teammate. After his track and field career ended, Samse moved to Los Angeles to become a secondary teacher and a Vaudeville performer. Leroy Samse was inducted into the Indiana High School Track and Field Hall of Fame in 1982.

Endnotes:

All times were converted from hand time to fully automatic time (FAT). Conversion of hand time to FAT is plus .24 seconds. If time is carried out to .00 it is a FAT time.

1904-1915, three places were awarded in state meet; six places in 1980-91, 1992-Present nine places

In 1943-1969, five places were awarded in state meet. In 1992, nine places were awarded.

Prior to 1980 IHSAA ran English distances but after 1980 changed to metric. 440/400, 220/200 etc. English distances were converted to metric according to Track and Field News: Little Blue Book Metric Conversions.

All marks were obtained from: Kokomo Year Books 1900-Present, IHSAA Handbooks 1915, 1943, 1957-Present, official meet results, newspaper articles and Indiana's Best Track and Cross Country by Dennis McNulty.

- Denote athletes that established their mark at Kokomo Haworth HS. Haworth marks will count toward Top Ten but not official Kokomo school records.

1999 the IHSAA changed from low hurdles (32") to intermediate hurdles (39"). 300 Meter Low Hurdles record holder was Tim Granson 37.8 in 1981 and is officially retired record.

Denney's high hurdles time of 14.9 was the state record in 1937.

Elliott's 100 yard time of 9.8/10.94 was a state record from 1934-1963
