Then try to go faster, switch directions, working on keeping the ball in your hand do not drop. After you are good with that go around your knees, go between your legs like a figure 8. - Grab your glove and we are going to work on fielding a ball. Imagine you are being hit a ground ball, get in a fielding position take a small step with your right leg then your right and while doing this your butt should be down. Next, tap the ground twice with your glove (pretend you are watching the ball into your glove). Next, do the explosion up so you can throw it. So right, left, tap, tap, explode up and throw. You should do this for a good 10-15min which you will be feeling it in your legs after the workout. - If you have a garage or a flat wall somewhere, put all this together. Throw the ball against a garage and focus on this right, left, tap (catch the ball you threw against the garage) and then throw it back. 	Putting it all together. Watch this video and follow the steps this guy does. Works on some conditioning as well as fielding and throwing! Great great video that you could use every day if you wanted. - https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=X8gw1VvAv5g
