We are so busy communicating that we often don't have time to talk to one another about what really matters.

That is why we developed Life as We Know It. We want to help you and those you care about share life, as you each know it—and to enjoy each other in the process. As you follow the dots of each other's stories through Beginnings, Obstacles, Hope, and Future, you'll dive deeper into the relationships you were made to have. This will be an exciting and enjoyable time of listening and learning, sharing and growing—together.

Life as We Know It is a versatile resource created to tap into the power of personal narratives. Our vision is for everyone to be rooted in deep and lasting community. We believe it happens by sharing our life stories. In a world of screens and technology, Life as We Know It is an invitation to return to face-to-face interaction and vibrant storytelling that has brought people together for millennia.

YOU ARE INVITED TO SHARE
LIFE, AS YOU KNOW IT.

Life as We Know It is a resource collective designed to help you create a gathering place where you can host others for sharing life stories and building deep community.

It can be used in a variety of settings, contexts, and groups. There are as many ways to use Life as We Know It as there are stories to share.

CRAFT YOUR STORY

Before you share your stories, Life as We Know It helps you craft them. Each session is devoted to a different part of our bigger story—Beginnings, Obstacles, Hope, and Future.

SHARE YOUR STORY

After you've crafted your stories, you will gather with a group of neighbors, friends, family members, or co-workers to share and listen. The Host Guide gives helpful suggestions on how to organize Life as We Know It gatherings, but every context will be unique.
