Upcoming Events

- Kindergarten will be discussing Veteran's Day this week and do a fun patriotic activity.
- November reading challenge: Remember to color a turkey every time you read a book. Return your completed book log to your teacher for a prize. Homework books count for this too!
- November 23-27th: NO SCHOOL. Happy Thanksgiving!
- Family Turkey Projects: Please return these to your child's teacher to share with the class.

November 9-13th

Dear Families,

Thank you for helping your children complete work at home. We really appreciate seeing the effort everyone is putting in at home. A new packet will be sent home this week, along with new Seesaw activities!

Also, we have learned that in order for students to progress in Istations, they need to spend at least 20 min in each subject, instead of the 15 minutes that was originally suggested.

As always, if there is anything we can do to help please don't hesitate to ask!

What We Are Learning

- Reading: This week we will be learning about the sounds around us. Our letter of the week is /Nn/, the Nest Card. Review all of your letter names and sounds! The word of the week is and. Practice creating sentences with the word and. "I like berries and vegetables."
- Math: We will be playing games this week that practice number identification, counting, subitizing (knowing the number without counting) and determining "one more" or "one less".
