Dear Parents,

Last week was a wonderful start to kindergarten. We took our first Reading and Math ISIP assessments on our Ipads. We will be using the information from them, and other sources, on Data Day to help tailor your child's education for the year.

What We Are Learning

- Reading: This week's unit is We Are Special. Our focus will be introducing the alphabet, the sight word: I, recognizing rhyme, and finding how many words are in sentences.
- Math: We will be learning about Number Corner activities, such as the calendar (months, days of the week, and dates). We will also be counting objects, adding to our collection of cubes, and looking at number order.
