Addressing housing solutions is one of the most crucial elements to helping a community recover from a disaster. Communities unprepared to undertake recovery operations may be left wondering when the housing mission should begin and who are the responsible parties. The Houston Urban Area Security Initiative (UASI) Housing Seminar aims to address these and other topics to help recovery housing stakeholders and partners understand their roles as response transitions to recovery and through the short-term, intermediate, and long-term phases of recovery.

Over the course of the seminar:

- Subject matter experts will discuss various options for housing solutions.
- Local resources will be provided.
- There will be opportunities to network and connect with jurisdictional assistance providers.

This seminar will help jurisdictions meet the EMPG Housing Core Capability requirement.
