Whereas, JW Harrington has served on the Faculty Council on Tri-Campus Policy, as the University's Faculty Legislative Representative, and as the Faculty Senate Vice Chair and Chair; and

Whereas, this reflects six years and counting of continuous service to the University; and

Whereas, JW Harrington has demonstrated not only a passion for service, but a true gift for leadership, as demonstrated by his mastery of the art of listening, and his uncanny ability to rapidly synthesize complex issues; and

Whereas, during this academic year, JW Harrington oversaw our seamless transition to a new, leaner senate structure, rocketed senate communication into the 21st century with the establishment of the Senate Blog; all the while engaged in a successful search for the next University of Washington President; and

Whereas, of all his accomplishments, perhaps none will be remembered most as his eloquent call-to-order of each Senate meeting; therefore

Be it resolved, on this day, the 19th of May, 2011, that the University of Washington Faculty Senate thanks JW Harrington for his outstanding leadership.
